KIDNAPERS ROB LINCOLN MAN $1,000

Two United States Balloonists Found Alive In Canada

HOLDUPS TAKE ROBERTS DAIRY AGENT FOR RIDE

O. J. Lemon Released by Two Robbers Near Walton After Being Abducted in Front of Company Office — Thousand Dollars in Checks Returned to Bank Messenger.

One thousand dollars in cash, was taken from O. J. Lemon, Roberts dairy collector and bank messenger, Monday noon by two heavily armed men who kidnaped him in one of the dairy's cars and later released him near Walton.

Lemon had just stepped out of the dairy office at 220 South Twentieth street and had entered the car when the two large, unmasked men appeared at the doors of the machine, got in, ordered him to keep quiet, and then drove off. Lemon was carrying Saturday and Sunday receipts of the dairy to the First National bank, totalling about $2,000. The checks, amounting to about half of the deposit, were given back to Lemon before he was released.

He telephoned twenty minutes later from the Schoenleber farm to report that his abductors had freed him a mile east of Walton but had escaped with the cash.

Lincoln police later received a report that the Roberts car was abandoned seven miles east of Walton and that the bandit pair joined a third man who was waiting in a grey coupe Officials in this part of the state have all been notified to be on the lookout.

Phelan Witnessed Affair.

Only witness of the abduction was LeRoy Phelan, mechanic at the dairy, who said the men, both of whom displayed revolvers, grabbed Lemon at the dairy entrance, and while one started the car the other forced Lemon into the seat between them. Phelan at once reported to Miss Alice Von Bergen office manager of the dairy, who notified the police immediately. Both abductors were heavey set individuals.

Met By Vorhees.

Lemon was brought back to Lincoln at about 1:30 o'clock by Ed Vorhees, another Roberts employe, who had driven out immediately after Lemon's call from the farm home.

Contrary to earlier reports of witnesses who said Lemon was forced into the car, he reported that just as he had gotten into the machine the two men appeared simultaneously, one at each door, placed guns against his ribs and ordered him to "Stick-up your hands and look straight ahead." He said they were both so large that they had difficulty in closing the doors after they got in. His description of their route out of town is as follows:

North to N street then east to Twenty-fifth, south to J, east on J to Twenty-ninth, south on Twenty-ninth to Randolph, east on Randolph to Fifty-sixth, south on Fifty-sixth to A, and east on A to Walton.

Unfamiliar With Streets.

"The men appeared to be unfamiliar with the streets, Lemon said, "for once they asked me what street they were on, and it appeared that they were uncertain of their route. They drove moderately while within city limits and observed traffic signals and arterials carefully.

Although Lemon was warned that "he had better keep looking straight ahead and the less you know about us the better, he managed to get a brief description of them which is as follows:

Bill, the driver: Abou 42 years of age, 6 feet in height, 220 pounds in weight. Dressed in brown oxfords, blue silk hose, brown trousers, blue shirt, brown necktie, light brown felt hat. Coarse features and black hair

The other: About 35 or 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, 200 pounds in weight, dressed in black oxfords, brown-striped trousers, light blue shirt and tie, and a brown cap

"The driver," Lemon reported, "carried a .32 calibre automatic

(Scores on Page Four.)

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, Sept. 11—(AP)—Holing a 30-foot putt on the home green, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville Canadian holder of the United States amateur golf championship, shot a 70, one under par today, to tie Jaack Munger of Dallas, Tex., national schoolboy champion, for the early lead in the first round of the 36-hole qualifying test

They had a threat following them however Chick Evans of Chicago, holder of the title in 1916 and 1920, seemed very much on his game, carding a birdie three on the first and continuing to shoot par golf on the next three holes.

With sub-par on the first nine to work on, Somerville drove ahead to two under par on the eleventh, dropping a long putt for a birdie.

U. S. Is After A Billion In Back Taxes

Roosevelt Approves Plans For Campaign to Collect Money Due.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP)—President Roosevelt today approved plans for a campaign to collect more than $1,000,000,000 in back taxes owing the government.

Guy Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, outlined the program for cleaning up the government's books and said he was ready to start the drive immediately.

About $750,000,000 in taxes is in dispute and is in process of settlement. Another quarter of a billion dollars is unpaid the government.

Helvering said his "most conservative estimate" of collections that can be made in the campaign would be $300,000,000 now.

He is confident of getting in most of the remainder after litigation is settled.

Mr. Roosevelt promised to provide Helvering with the money that may be necessary in waging the cause for getting taxes due the government.

Hasik and his son George were playing in a local dance orchestra and were preparing to leave the dance floor when Dolezal slipped a letter in the trouser pocket of George Hasik then turned to Ludvik and shot him through the forehead immediately turning the gun upon himself

The letter, authorities said, clearly indicated that Dolezal was demented and said he was killing Hasik because he allowed his son to smoke cigarets and play in a dance orchestra

Hasik is survived by his widow and three children

NEW PRESIDENT OF CUBA SEEKS U. S. FRIENDSHIP

San Martin Insists Island's Freedom Must Not Be Impaired.

UNREST CONTINUES IN THE INTERIOR

Officers Demand Leader Step Aside in Favor of de Cespedes.

HAVANA, Sept. 11—(AP)—Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, provisional president at the head of the fourth Cuban government in a month, made a bid for the friendship of the United States today, but emphasized that Cuba's freedom must not be impaired.

"We desire American friendship based on the absolute liberty of Cuba," he said in a statement to the press. "We never forget that American soldiers fought for our independence, and we are grateful.

"We are not anti-American, but we are anti-imperialism in all its forms."

HAVANA, Sept. 11—(AP)—Cuba's fourth government in a month rode in the saddle today, with a 48-year-old former professor at the reins, and the going was none too easy.

No sooner had Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, chosen president by a junta which assumed control only last Monday, pledged himself to "fulfill entirely the revolutionary program" than 300 former army officers demanded he step aside in favor of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, whose brief regime began a month ago.

In Santiago there were disquieting reports that heavily armed bands roamed the countryside ready for revolution in behalf of former President Mario G. Menocal, that unrest led merchants to close their stores, and that army officers refused to return to their duties.

Agitators Berate U. S.

And in Havana's Central park 5,000 persons met to hear agitators decry the newest government as lending itself to "machinations of Wall street's financiers," shout "Down with Yankee Imperialism!" and demand the withdrawal of

GROUP REQUESTS PENSION BOARD

Attorneys Want Action For Relief Aged Residents.

A request for county commissioners to appoint an old age pension board was filed with the commissioners Monday. Attorney C. A. Sorensen said he would not be surprised to see the county board act favorably upon the request. In case they do not, the next step will be to file a mandamus action in District court, he declared, seeking to force the commissioners to put the old age pension system in effect.

Urges Act Revised.

While joining with his law partner, C. L. Rein, and with Attorney Arthur Balis in pushing the old age pension law, Sorensen, former Nebraska attorney general, declared Monday that the law in its present

GUARDS CLOSING IN ON CONVICT HIDING PLACE

One Inmate, Two Prison Officials Killed In Louisiana.

ANGOLA, La, Sept. 11—(AP)—Scores of armed guards early today began to close in on a canebrake seven miles northeast of Angola prison farm where eleven desperate convicts were believed surrounded after a bloody Sunday prison break in which three men were killed and at least four others wounded.

Twelve convicts, three of them inmates with previous escapes and many of them long termers, used smuggled pistols to take possession of Camp E, a suar farm at the state penitentiary, during a Sunday afternoon baseball game.

One Escaper Killed.

They held guards at bay and terrorized visitors for a half an hour, raided the arms lockers, confiscated a dozen shotguns, rifles and pistols and then shot their way to freedom.

The convicts left one of their own dead, Bill Stone, 28, of Dallas, a sthey sped away in a visitor's automobile which was abandoned at the canebrake. It was believed another convict was wounded

OVER $60,000 IN LOOT STOLEN IN ST. PAUL HOLDUP

Eight Bandits Carry Off Two Express Company Cash Boxes.

EMPLOYES LINED UP AGAINST WALL

Masked and Armed Robbers Back Car Under Depot Concourse.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 11—(AP)—Eight masked bandits held up two Railway Express Co. employes at the door of their office here early today, escaping with two large cash boxes which police reports said contained between $60,000 and $100,000.

The cash boxes were on a hand truck just inside the door of the express company office, near the union station here, ready to be taken to Minneapolis

Police said the eight bandits backed a big sedan under the depot concourse, not far from the express company office.

As T. J. Mangan, a guard, and S. Moles, a messenger, opened the door of the office to wheel out the truck carrying the cash containers, five of the bandits surrounded them.

The bandit leader, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, comanded the company employes to "stick 'em and face the wall." Two bandits guarded the victims while the others hau ed the truck to the bandit automobile and loaded the cash boxes into it

The stolen containers are 30 inches long, 18 inches wide and 18 inches deep.

Holdups Speed Away.

After disarming Mangan and Moles, the two bandits who guarded them ran to their sedan. All eight bandits crowded in and sped away. They fired two shots in the air as they went.

The victims said the bandits wore dark suits and had white handkerchiefs tied around the lower parts of their faces. They said the license plates on their sedan were turned so it was impossible to read the numbers.

Police said the loot included cash, checks and non-negotiable vouchers.

The victims said three of the bandits carried sawed-off shotguns and two had revolvers.

A coroner's jury declared the collision in which Fred C. Jenkins, Lincoln insurance man was killed last Friday afternoon to be unavoidable and held blameless Steve Loughran of Greeley, driver of the truck which collided with Jenkin's sedan between Waverly and Havelock. Four persons testified at the inquest, which was conducted by Farley Young, deputy county attorney, at Castle, Roper & Matthews' mortuary, Monday morning.

The jury's verdict was: "That Fred C. Jenkins met his death on September 8, 1933, about 3:30 p. m. on highway No. 6 between Havelock and Waverly as the result of an unavoidable collsion between his car and a truck operated by Steve

Season On Ducks, Geese, Is October 1 To November 30

The open season on ducks and geese in Nebraska this year is fixed at October 1 to November 30 according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington announcing department of agriculture rulings

The department limited the open season to two months as it was last year because of alarm over the increasing scarcity of waterfowl. The daily bag limit on ducks is reduced from fifteen to twelve and the possession limit from thirty to twenty-four and on accepted species from twenty to sixteen.

Cackling geese may be hunted this year for the first time since 1930

Secretary Frank B O'Connell of the state game, parks and forestation board said the season and bag limitations follow recommendations submitted the board and are acceptable to Nebraska.

PUBLIC WORKS PROJECTS FOR CITY STUDIED

Million Dollar Program Outlined For Local Unemployed.

Projects totaling well up towards a million dollars which it may be possible to work out in Lincoln to put the city's 4,000 unemployed heads of families back to work were outlined at a meeting of local public officials and representatives of the civic organizations at the chamber of commerce Monday noon.

The projects outlined at the meeting, called by the Lancaster county division of the national reemployment service, are those that city and count yengineers expressed the belief can be carried out by their respective political subdivisions provided the executive heads thereof seek and obtain aid from the federal public works program.

Public Support Necessary.

Mayor Fleming told the delegation that support of the public is necessary before these projects can be executed. "The citizens of Lincoln must forget about taxation," he declared, "and see that all the projects are designed to give employment to those who now have none."

Projects which the city has in mind provided it is given the cooperation of its citizens and the aid of the federla government were outlined by City Engineer D. L. Erickson as follows:

Storm sewer projects, totaling $300,000. The plan would be to anticipate a 6-year program of storm sewer development already authorized by the voters by seeking a federal loan for the entire amount at this time and repaying the government when it becomes possible each of the six years for the city to borrow $50,000 as authorized by the voters The city would seek in American Pair, Participants in Race Starting From Chicago and Missing More Than Week, Found Ill From Hardships Suffered —Cut Phone Wires to Attract Attention.

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 11—(AP)—W. T. Van Orman and Frank A. Trotter, American balloonists who participated in the James Gordon Bennett cup race from Chicago and who had been missing more than a week, were found today between Sudbury and Abitibi canyon in northern Ontario. They were ill from hardships they had undergone in the bush country.

In order that the outside world might learn of their plight the two balloonists cut down a telephone pole, knowing repairmen would be sent out to fix the damage. They attached to the pole the following note:

"This telephone pole was cut September 10 by U. S. Goodyear balloon team of W. T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter in the hope that repairmen would aid us in getting to civilization from here. We will continue south along the high voltage line. Please come after us. We have a gun and some food, but are both sick, evidently from ptomaine poisoning. Fire your gun three times and we will answer. Please hurry.

F. A. TROTTER."

Found in Camp.

Patrolman James Barrett was sent out this morning to determine what was wrong with the telephone line. When he saw the note he did not stop to repair the damage, but proceeded with the search. Barrett found the balloonists in a camp at Tower No. 38, a lineman's outpost, about five miles from where he discovered the note. He gave them such food as he had and returned to repair the line.

Bodies of Three Fliers Are Found In Lake Michigan

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., Sept. 11—(AP)—The bodies of two men and a woman, tentatively identified as the trio who started from South Bend for Chicago in an autogyro last Wednesday, were found in Lake Michigan here today.

The body of a girl was washed up on the shore at the foot of Alder street this afternoon. It was that of a blonde, wearing a diamond ring that answered the description of one worn by Miss Majenta Gerard of River Forest, Ill., who accompanied the two fliers.

Bodies of the two men were seen floating in the lake, and police put out in a boat and recovered them. They were believed to have been H. W. "Spud" Manning, world's champion parachute jumper, and Pilot Charles Otto.

NRA BENEFICIAL TO LABOR CAUSE

Eissler Tells Federation Must See That Law Is Observed.

OMAHA, Sept. 11—(AP)—In a report read today before delegates to the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Labor, President Fred Eissler of Lincoln said that if workers are to obtain the advantages possible through the national recovery act, they must "insist upon a compliance with the different parts of the act affecting the welfare of labor." He estimated labor's advantages already obtained as follows:

Company union in the discard
Outlaw of the "yellow" contract
Extension of collective bargaining to every industry
Forbidding of child labor
Penalization of employer who interferes with rights of labor
The fact that the government's duty now is to protect the workers in the exercise of their rights

Delegates approved with a rising vote an appeal by E. L. Oliver of Cincinnati, international official of the Brotherhood of Railway clerks, when he urged the movement in this state to listen to social science experts willing to advise them.

Hope In Labor Movement.

"When scientists over the country have offered services in the past they have been met with the sneer of 'Theory,' Mr. Oliver said and added. 'The hope of the entire people rests in the labor movement. 'Humanity is the real goal instead of a statement of profits.'

The convention which opened a three day session this morning heard from Paul L. Martin of the Omaha committee of 15 of the NRA, listened to an address of welcome from Mayor Ros Towl and started the formal proceedings with seating of W. W. Morphew of Lincoln as a fraternal delegate from the Nebraska Unemployed federation of Lincoln over the protest of Harry Gill of the Omaha Machinists union.

As Rogers Sees It

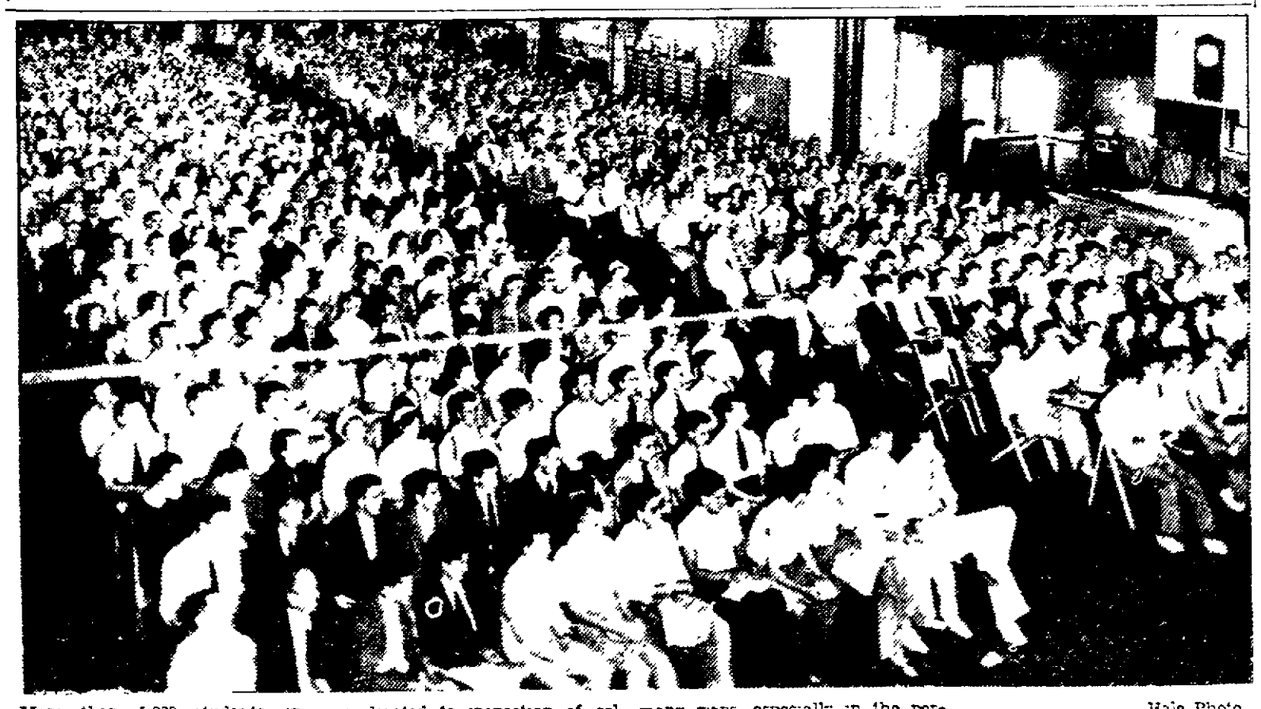

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 11—Well, I guess I am all wet as usual, but a headline in all the papers like this don't particularly add to my patriotism, "Cuba picks new president as battleship Mississippi steams into port," anymore than the following one would, "United States of America, having internal trouble, and his majesty King George has dispatched his dreadnoughts to stand by in New York harbor to protect British investments in America, and to see that the right man is elected.

But that couldn't happen, for they are both big nations, and would mean war.

But when one nation is big, and one is little, why the little nation's port is just like a public regatta. Everybody can come in that's got a boat. The whole thing, as I see it, all over the world today is, that the little nations has got no business being little.

Yours, WILL.

SOMERVILLE AND MUNGER IN A TIE FOR EARLY LEAD

like golf was slightly interrupted, however, on the fourteenth hole, where his second shot caught the edge of trap He chipped right past the pin and his putt hung on the lip, costing him a five.

"Sandy" made the long seventeenth look easy, barely missing a birdie with his putt from 10 feet.

Several Shoot 72.

Two strokes back of Somerville and Munger several players were tied with 72s. They included Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, the 1932 medalist; Gus Moreland, Walker cup star from Texas; Don Edwards of San Jose, Cal., and Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis.

With the big field of more than 150 players nearing the halfway mark. The high wind blowing over Kenwood's bunkered battle ground commenced to take its toll of strokes.

One of the prime favorites, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, holder of the national open championship, teed off in the midst of the gusty breeze. A big gallery pursued him.

Among the few early victims of high scoring were Jess Sweetser of New York, former American and British amateur title holder, and Lester Bolstad of St. Paul, a quarter finalist two years ago at Chicago. Sweetser had a 79 and Bolstad an 83.

Johnny Plays With Seaver.

Goodman began his first qualifying round in company with Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, the big Stanford athlete. Both took par 4s on the first hole, Johnny missing by only two inches his try from 30 feet for a birdie. A gallery of 500 spectators followed him.

Goodman got his 3 easily on the 176-yard second, but Seaver hooked behind a clump of trees, barely reached the edge of the green with his second and tookthree putts for a 5.

Goodman Plays Par Golf.

Goodman, despite long delays between shots due to the slow progress of the field and difficulty in controlling the gallery, matched par with 5-4-3 on the third, fourth and fifth holes. He recovered exce.lently from a bunker on the third, then got orthodox scores on the next two holes.

Seaver, meanwhile, continued to have some throuble, losing a shot on the fourth after getting his par 5 on the third. He then put his tee shot within four feet of the cup on the 134 yard fifth and holed out for the birdie.

The scores of the first 75 or so were averaging low enough to indicate it might take better than 152 to gain the qualifying brackets tomorrow, limited to the best 32.

GROUP REQUESTS PENSION BOARD

form is a "monstrosity." "What we want is to get the next legislature and the next governor to enact an old age pension law that is workable," he declared.

"There are two vital faults in the present law," Sorensen stated. "First, the law provides for an annual levy of 50 cents on each individual to raise funds for the pension. It does not state if this is the only source by which funds can be raised for pensions to the aged. If it is, the revenue that can be raised will be wholly inadequate for the needs of the old pople."

Sorensen termed the 50 cents a head assessment "a political gesture" on the part of the enacters of the law "They were caught between campaign promises to supply an old age pension law and the pressure brought by taxpayers' leagues demanding reduction everywhere," he said.

The second fault with the present law in Sorensen's opinion is that the assessment is not based on the ability of the individual to pay. "The man who can barely eke out his living pays 50 cents while the millionaire also pays only 50 cents," the attorney complained. "It is contrary to all established principles of law. Taxes should be based either on the amount of a man's property or on the amount of his income."

The request of Sorensen and his associates for the commissioners to appoint a pension board follows action taken last week by County Clerk J. B. Morgan in refusing to accept pension applications on the ground that the pension board had not yet been appointed by the commissioners.

The commissioners have taken the stand that the pension law could not be put in effect this year because assesment of nearly two-thirds of the county's residents was completed before the law was enacted last spring and there is no accurate record of persons falling between the age limits of 21 to 50 years, who are liable for the pension assessments.

MAYOR OF BRUNO SHOT TO DEATH

investigated the shooting thoroughly and was unable to develop any theory as to Dolezal's motive for the slaying. The shooting was done with a .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Dolezal's parents, Mr. and Mrs Frank Dolezal, farmers southeast of Bruno, told Roberts they had no idea that this had been on their son's mind, and that they could not explain where he got the gun.

Sheriff Roberts was inclined to believe Dolezal had had the weapon for some time, and that the subject of "protecting" George Hasik had been on his mind for a considerable period.

George Hasik 15, told the sheriff that about three months ago Dolezal came to him with a gun and pleaded for Hasik to shoot him. Young Hasik said he "talked Dolezal out of it," and thought that would end the incident. Dolezal gave no reason for wanting to be shot, Hasik told the sheriff.

The Haskis live on an acreage at the edge of Bruno, and the Dolezals live about two miles from there. The elder Hasik formerly was a merchant in Able, also in Butler county.

The shooting occurred about 9:30 o'clock. Persons who were on the streets before the slaying said Dolezal had been around town, but as usual talked little to anyone. They had no indication that he carried a gun.

He went to the dancing platform shortly before the shooting, and sat beside George Hasik on the orchestra platform during the playing of the last selection. There were four members of the orchestra besides the Hasiks, and about 50 or 60 persons were on the floor for the last dance.

When the music stopped the orchestra members packed up their things and prepared to leave. When the Hasiks started to leave the platform, Dolezal edged up to George Hasik, slipped the note in Hasik's pocket turned to the elder Hasik and fired.

Sheriff Roberts said the note, written with pencil on "history note" paper, was four pages long and kept explaining that George Hasik should be a good boy, and that the father was shot because he allowed his son to smoke cigarets and play for dances.

were in bad shape, Barrett reported to the head office of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Co., in Sudbury.

Their clothing was cut to ribbons and the soles of their shoes were worn through.

"I never saw two men in my life who were so glad to see another human being as they were," Barrett said. They hollered with glee and hugged and kissed me."

Will Be Brought Out Soon.

Arrangements were started to provide the balloonists with food and other necessaries and to get them to the Canadian National railways in the vicinity of Laforest station as quickly as possible.

The information received here was the balloon landed in the Temagami forest reserve Sunday, September 3. The balloonists were not sure of the exact time, but estimated it was about 4 p. m.

After an intense thunderstorm the bag descended from a height of about 8,000 feet, landing on a pine tree more than a foot in diameter. The tree snapped in two. The bag was badly damaged.

Maps indicated that perhaps the airmen were mistaken about the point at which they came back to the ground. They estimated they had walked only about 15 miles, but the line of telephone poles does not run within 30 miles of the forest reserve.

The James Gordon Bennet race apparently was won by the Polish team, Capt. Franciszek Hynek and Lt. Z. Brzynski, who put down their bag near Riviere A Pierre, 812 miles from the starting line. Van Orman and Trotter covered approximately 500 miles.

RIVIERE A PIERRE, Que., Sept. 11—(AP)—Refreshed after two nights of sound sleep and a number of hearty meals, Capt. Francisek Hynek and Lieut. Zhigniew Brzynski, Polish balloonists, who landed in the wilds of the Laurentian mountains, were today eager for news of their rivals in the James Gordon Bennett balloon race.

The two Polish officers suffered acutely from hunger and cold in a 90-mile tramp through forest and mountain from their landing place to the railway. With only 12 oranges between them for six days of arduous travel, they were haggard and weak when they reached here.

Their balloon settled down in the forest last Monday and Saturday night they reached the line of the Canadian National railways and were picked up by section men at a flag station 10 miles north of this Portneuf country village.

Having covered a distance of more than 800 miles, the Polish balloonists claimed an unofficial lead in the race.

PRESIDENT SAN MARTIN.

Although Havana generally received the new government dispassionately, unrest continued in the interior.

At American-owned manganese mines near Santiago one man was killed in a brush with strikers and miners.

Two Plotters Arrested.

Two men, one an army sergeant, were arrested for conspiracy in Marianao, near here. In Oriente province, rebels were reported in the field They were said to be Menocal supporters.

The Havana officers, loyal to Dr. de Cespedes who gave way before an enlisted men's coup last Monday, demanded his return but indicated that whether he continue in office or resign shortly after his re-installation was for him to decide.

Dr. Grau San Martin, a lanky surgeon who has few direct political connections, received the demands from Col. Horacio Ferrer, de Cespedes, secrtary of war, and announced he would answer them sometime today.

The officers also asked that Sergio Carbo, publisher and junta members and all leaders of the army and navy "mutiny" be returned to civil life.

Friendly to America.

In taking the oath of office yesterday, Grau San Martin promised his government would assure the "Maximum respect for all interests." Later he said his administration would be friendly to the United Sates and would honor all obligations "to the last penny."

He told the Associated Press he probably would announce his complete cabinet today and declared, "We are going slowly and taking great care" and that the army problem would soon be solved.

While officers continued to mill about the National hotel, in which soldiers held them virtual prisoners on Friday, one of their spokesmen, Torres Menier, explained their stand:

"We are not trying to mix into politics," he said. "We ask only the restoration of the government to its legally constituted status."

The officers, meanwhile, and several hundred members of the ABC secret society continued to be barricaded in the hotel. Their movements were watched by soldiers who guarded the entrances. The officers themselves had machine guns—one man said 27—with considerable ammunition, and made plans for defending their stronghold.

The woman, it is alleged, stole two watches belonging to Frederick C. Sunderland while rooming at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sunderland, 1517 U street. and the other had a larger gun, about a .44 or .45 which was also an automatic."

"They talked but little," Lemon continued, "and the few words they exchanged were in reference to their loot. The driver spoke in an accented gutteral voice and he told me to keep looking straight ahead because the less I knew about them the better."

"When they let me out about a mile and a half east of Walton they told me I would get my car back in a couple of days and that I better take my time about notifying the police."

Meets Police.

After Lemon had been let out of the car by the bandits, he started back down the road toward a farm house, meeting the police car with its newly installed police radio. The police car, manned by Officers Harold Hulfish and Felber Maasdam, proceeded up the road. They found the Roberts car on a side-road behind a clump of trees.

A nearby farmer told police that he saw the two men leave the black coupe there and get into a grey coupe driven by a third man and proceed eastward. Fingerprints were being taken by Hulfish and Maasdam.

Max Von Bergen, dairy employe who went after the dairy's coupe reported that the bandits had left the keys in the car.

Meanwhile Captain Paul Shively, Detective Harold Graves, and Patrolman Lynn Schappaugh, who had gone immediately to the dairy when the robbery was reported, had been covering all side roads on east O street in a search for the bandits Both police cars were constantly in touch with headquarters through the radio system.

this loan to have the government make a direct grant of $90,000 of the whole amount.

Projects Listed.

Water mains project totals $200,000. The plan is to seek a $140,000 loan and a $60,000 federal grant, the loan to be paid from water extension bonds already authorized. Mr. Erickson said that the city's plans on this project are nearly ready and will be submitted to the state public works board in a few days.

Repaving O street project, another major sized project. In this as on the others the city would seek the maximum grant and a federal loan for the rest of the money needed.

Remodeling street lighting system along O street project, to cost approximately $35,000.

A tentative project to build an additional reservoir as part of the water system at Ashland, to cost about $35,000.

County Engineer L. W. Weaver saw the possibility that the county might be able to expend $100,000 on its secondary road system.

The county engineer indicated his opinion that it will first be necessary to convert the board of county commissioners to the proposition of seeking federal aid and making a loan.

Both county and city officials pointed out that their revenues have been drastically cut and that they are unable to eecute projects unless thye are able to obtain the federal aid. All speakers expressed a desire to co-operate and put as many men back to work as possible in the shortest time it can be done.

C. B. Towle presided ash chairman of the Lancaster county division of the re-employment service. Vance Thomas was introduced as having been engaged by the service to manage the re-employment bureau. Mr Thomas asked city, county and public employers to cooperate with him in placing on projects when they are created the unemployed who have registered with the re-employment service.

NO BLAME IN JENKINS DEATH

Loughran in which Mr. Loughran is held blameless."

W. Roy Linch, 2848 Baldwin, testified that he and his family were driving into Lincoln some distance back of the truck. They noticed Jenkin's car approaching from the west and a few moments later saw the cloud of dust which arose when the accident occurred. He said that two front and one rear wheels of the truck were off the paving on the right side of the road and it was his opinion that Loughran had got off the road in an attempt to avoid the collision.

Truck Overturned.

Linch said that Jenkins' car was completely demolished along its left side and that it was thrown crosswise behind the truck following the collision. The truck was turned over by the impact and the body was damaged where the sedan crashed against it. Mr. Linch said Jenkins breathed a little after the accident, but died shortly afterwards.

Similar testimony was given by Andrew Eberle, 5418 Lexington avenue, who was a half mile behind Loughran's truck. Gus Miller, superintendent of the reformatory, who arrived shortly after the accident occurred, said that his impression was that Loughran tried his best to avoid the accident.

Loughran, when on the witness stand, said that he and his wife noticed Jenkin's car approaching and that when it was about a block away it began swerving toward the north side of the road. He said he turned his truck as near the edge of the paving as possible, but that Jenkin's sedan struck the body of his truck just behind the cab. Loughran said his truck was going about twenty-five miles an hour.

The truck which Loughran was driving belonged to John Doyle, Greeley groceryman, and was loaded with milk cans and groceries.

Mrs. Frona Lockard, Reformatory Matron, Is Critically Ill Here

Mrs. Frona Lockard, matron at the York reformatory for women, is in St. Elizabeth's hospital dangerously ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Lockard, a sister of N. T. Harmon, secretary of the state pardon board, was taken ill last Thursday. Pneumonia developed Saturday and she was brought immediately to Lincoln

Mr. Harmon said his sister has been unconscious since Saturday and little hope is held for her recovery.

Mrs. Lockard served as matron at the state penitentiary fifteen years before being transferred to the York institution last spring, after the last legislature ordered women prisoners to be taken there instead of the prison.

York Asks Dismissal Utility Rate Injunction

Two petitions asking dismissal of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company's suit to enjoin the city of York from enforcing an ordinance reducing gas and electricity rates, were filed in Federal court Monday morning by Calvin Webster, attorney for York.

In addition to dismissal, the petitions ask that the company be instructed to refund money collected in access of the new rates, which were to have gone into effect July 1, but which were delayed by a temporary injunction.

Capt. Singleton Slain.

Capt. John A Singleton was felled with two bullets after he had pleaded with the convicts to disarm. J. L Watlington, engineer at the sugar farm, was wounded in the side and Ed Sharp a guard, received a bullet wound in the hand.

The convicts seized an automobile belonging to Simpson Reed, of Mamou, La., a visitor, piled into it and fled.

Fournet, after his battle with the automobile load of desperadoes, headed a company of guards in a commandeered car and pursued them to the canebrake where they took to the thickets.

Nearly 400 convicts were quartered in the sugar camp at the time.

Field were other members of the committee which prepared the new project. The names of the judges making the selections will be kept secret but the awards will be made by a committee outside of the club membership.

A membership drive, which will begin Tuesday morning and continue to the end of the week, was announced by Parke Keays, chairman. Other members of the committee include Ralph Boomer, Dick Koupal, Kendrick Ott, George Koehnke, Tom Connelly, Walter White, C. C. Meyer and Emerson Smith.

Lincoln Man Sees Stars—Film Type

Winchell Saw Different Constellation With Dr. Ireland Witness.

TOO bad that some of you whose hearts skip a beat at the sight of George Raft on the screen, couldn't have walked in at Caesar's in Omaha a few nights ago, for there sat George, in person, doing things to a steak. The movie star, who is supposed to be a second Valentino, was just passing through enroute from the west coast to the east. Overhearing two of the waiters vigorously wishing that they could see the Chicago fair, Mr. Raft generously offered to take them that far in his car—but of course one always has to come back.

SEEING STARS can be an interesting pastime. Walter Winchell doesn't think so, perhaps, but Dr. Ralph Ireland does. He had a ringside seat at the wrestling match the night Al Jolson popped the news sleuth right in the eye, between the first and second bouts and thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

It was that same night that Dr. Ireland met Pat O'Brien and his charming wife.

Dr. Ireland went to California to visit an old friend and fraternity 'brother' in Sigma Chi, Franklin Parker, who is in the movies, and it was with Mr. Parker that Dr. Ireland went places and saw things. His entree here and there on and off the lot was made secure by the fact that he had been presented with a guest membership for two weeks at the Masquers club. This is an organization made up exclusively of male stars, five hundred in number, with an extra hundred members added to include famous illustrators, writers and cartoonists. George McManus, who draws "Bringing Up Father," is a member.

Joe Brown is president of the club, and Lowell Sherman is vice president. Dr. Ireland, of course, met both of these actors several times and likes them very much. Also at the club he met Ned Sparks, who played the role of the producer in "Gold Diggers." Conway Tearle, Sam Hardy, Regis Tunney, who is also a Sig Chi, the English actor, Alan Mooberry, Eddie Nugent, whom Dr. Ireland says is "very young and very nice"; Jack Sheehan, the famous musical comedy comedian, who played a role in "The Warrior's Husband"; Francis MacDonald, who is well known for his French Canadian roles, and any number of others.

Over at Genevieve and Vivian Tobin's house one afternoon he met Warren William and Marjorie Rambeau, and while calling with Mr. Parker on a friend in the hospital, he met Vina Delmar, who has a long list of movie scenarios and stories to her credit.

Dr. Ireland met Buster Crabbe, who is playing the lead in the college picture, "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," which is to be released October 20. The male members of the cast are practically all Sig Chi's, which adds a little zest to the picture making.

According to Dr. Ireland, Franklin Parker is making a picture with George Bancroft, "Bread Money," is it's name.

And then he saw Carlisle Logan-Jones, who is doing publicity for Warner Bros., in general, and for George Arliss, John Barrymore, and Al Jolson in particular.

LEAVING ONE INTERESTING subject for another, we take up the wedding plans of two of Lincoln's brides-to-be.

Miss Jean Rathburn, whose marriage to Edwin Faulkner will take place September 27, has chosen her bridal party from Lincoln and Omaha. Her maid of honor will be Miss Betty Everett, and the bridesmaids will include Miss Charlotte Cornell, Miss Ruth Ridnour and Miss Jane Rehlaender, all of Lincoln, and Miss Maxine Stokes, Miss Frances Holyoke and Mrs. Bernarr Wilson, all of Omaha.

Mr. Faulkner will have as his best man, Russell Mousel of Hastings, and the ushers will be John Barnes, Chicago; James Pickering, Elwood Thompson, Coburn Tomson, Ray Gavin and Hugh Rathburn.

ONE OF THE LARGE WEDDINGS of the late autumn will be that of Miss Jean Wilhelmy and Jefferson Burns Weston, II, of Beatrice, which will take place around the middle of November, at the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Wilhelmy has chosen as her maid of honor, her cousin, Miss Helen Elizabeth Lewrence. The bridesmaids will be Miss Roma DeBrown, Miss Barbara Harrison, Miss Betty Baker, Miss Frances Ireland and Miss Leah Carlsen.

THE OMAHA BETTY KELLEY at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house is wearing a lovely engagement ring presented to her by Louis McMaster, so the story goes. The ring, which is 101 years old, is of yellow gold with a flat circular setting of pearls and amethysts. The wedding ring, so it is said, is to be of pearls set in yellow gold.

GETTING BACK to things closer at hand—Mrs. Robert Gardner has as her house guest, her sister, Mrs. Harold Marshall of Kansas City, who arrived in Lincoln very recently. Mrs. Gardner will be hostess to twelve guests at luncheon Thursday at her home, with bridge following. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner expect to accompany Mrs. Marshall when she returns to Kansas City, Saturday.

ANOTHER OUT-OF-TOWN guest is Mrs. Effie Steen Kittleson of New York City, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Lincoln and Wahoo. This evening Mrs. Kittleson, who is a former resident of Lincoln, will be a guest at the dinner which Fred Cornell and C. C. Quiggle are giving at the Shrine Country club. Sixteen guests have been invited and will devote the evening to bridge.

AT THE SHRINE CLUB also will be Mr. and Mrs. Walton G. Roberts who are entertaining in honor of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Davis, of Hollywood, Cal. Only a small group of guests have been invited, the most of them old friends of Mr. Davis' who at one time resided in Lincoln. An informal evening will follow the dinner.

IF ANYONE ASKED Herb Yenne if he saw any Indians, he could very truthfully answer in the affirmative, for he has just returned from Gallup, N. M., where he attended a ceremonial in which about seven thousand Indians took part. Before going to New Mexico, Mr. Yenne spent several weeks on the coast. He went from Lincoln, through Yellowstone park, on to Portland, and down the coast to Los Angeles.

* * *

MARTIN AITKEN is expected home about the first of October from Europe where he has spent the summer in continental jaunting. In Paris, he ran into H. E. Gooch, jr., who has recently returned from Europe, and several Yale classmates.

THE VICTOR TOFTS are due to arrive about the twentieth of the month from Colorado, and will take up their residence in the W. A. Gray home, 2420 Parke avenue.

Preceding the service Miss Dorothy Beaver sang, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Evelyn Wells who played the music from Lohengrin for the processional.

Miss Lee was attended by her sister, Miss Maxine Lee who appeared in a floor length gown of eel gray. Robert Cooper served his brother as best man. The bride's gown was of white silk net and lace fashioned on princess lines and floor length. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Miss Helen Frances and Miss Lillian Ryder presided at the serving table, and Herbert Probasco was usher.

Police Turn Fire Hose On Strikers

PATERSON, N. J. Sept. 11—(AP)—Police turned fire hose on pickets at the United Piece Dye Works at Lodi today as strikers estimated to number several thousand gathered about the plant. Police Sergeant John Uzinski was alleged to have flourished a gun and was mobbed by the crowd.

Police opened the hoses and in the resulting melee, John Taci, editor of the Lodi Messenger, a weekly, was knocked unconscious and an unidentified man received a scalp wound. Taci was said to be not seriously hurt.

The police force was composed of 350 police and special deputies and 75 company guards.

Noted Britisher Is Convicted Of Annoying Woman

EPSOM, Eng., Sept. 11—(AP)—Sir Leo Chiozza Money, distinguished economist, author and former member of parliament, was convicted in police court today on charges of annoying a young woman passenger in a southern railway car compartment last month.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of 2£ 10 sterling. He gave notice he would appeal.

The prosecution asserted that Sir Leo followed the girl, Miss Ivy Ruxton, into the compartment, insisted on conversing with her and finally seized her in his arms and repeatedly kissed her. Miss Ruxton was forced to leave the train at the next station, according to the prosecution, in order to get away from him.

In a statement to the authorities, Sir Leo was quoted as saying there was nothing in the girl's charges, that they had an amicable conversation in the train and that she offered no objection to his kissing her fingers in a way complimentary to the smallness of her hands, which he admired.

NO QUORUM FOR PARDON BOARD

Bryan Says Cannot Act and Good Out Of the State.

Twenty-five pardon, parole and commutation applications scheduled to come before the state pardon board at its monthly meeting Tuesday, all of which have been advertised in local papers throughout the state for hearing on that day, will probably have to be deferred because Attorney General Good, a member of the board, is at Washington and Governor Bryan, its chairman, declines at this stage of his recuperation from illness to participate actively in the proceedings.

This situation leaves only secretary of State Harry Swanson, the third member of the board, planning to be present Tuesday morning. Governor Bryan said in reply to a newspaper man's question, that he was not expecting to be there except possibly for a short period in the afternoon, and not even then to take much hand in the meeting.

Good will not be back before Thursday. If he and Swanson have to conduct the hearings, as they have been doing up to this time while the governor was confined to the executive mansion, they will have to be postponed until the attorney general's return. Meanwhile, a number of people from various towns in Nebraska who are interested in the cases will be compelled to remain in Lincoln until they are taken up.

Has Long List.

The list is longer than usual this month because the pardon board holds no meeting in August each year, and has more than the ordinary amount of business to engage its attention in the September session.

When Governor Bryan was asked Monday if he was going out to the penitentiary Tuesday morning for the taking of testimony before the board on applications for clemency he said:

"I am not intending to be there for the full day's session, nor anything like it. I was asked a week or so ago if I expected to be there and told them I might come out for a little while in the afternoon, but would not attempt to take any further part.

"The other members of the board had full information of this, and if one of them has gone off to Washington and will not be home before Thursday that means, I suppose, the meeting will have to be postponed. No notice was given me that my presence would be necessary to insure a quorum."

Bryan at His Office.

Bryan has been coming to his office at the capitol each day for the past week or more and spending a few hours there on his own official business. Before that, he received delegations and transacted business at the mansion.

Attorney General Good is in Washington to look after the plans for a free bridge across the Missouri river at Omaha for which a federal public works allotment has been requested. He is an ex officio member of the board of trustees for the bridge corporation.

Secretary of State Swanson had this to say concerning the pardon board situation:

"If that is the governor's attitude I am sorry but don't know of anything I can do to help the matter. He's chairman of the board and I'm only the secretary. I'll do anything he wants me to in order to get the business transacted; but, of course, being only one of three members, I can't do it all by myself. If it will accommodate Governor Bryan, I'm willing to string the hearings over two or three days so he won't have to sit so long on any one day.

"There are 25 applications on file and all these cases were duly advertised in their respective communities for consideration by the pardon board at this time. A good many relatives and friends of the convicts asking for releases will be here, some of them having come long distances paying their own expenses on the trip and while in Lincoln. If the meeting is not held all this expense will have been incurred for nothing. If delayed, the expense will be increased.

Did Not Hear From Good.

"I did not hear from Attorney General Good before he left, but I supposed he must have sent word to the governor he was going and would not be back in time for the pardon board session Tuesday.

"While I did not communicate directly with Governor Bryan, I was informed he would be on hand, not as a guest, but to function as chairman. All I can say is that I will be there myself at 10 a. m. Tuesday and if there is a quorum we will go ahead with the hearings."

Swanson recalled the fact that last spring when he had an engagement to present a flag to an Omaha high school cadet organization in the name of Valley, his son being one of the cadet officers, he remained in Lincoln for a scheduled meeting of the pardon board on the same date, and so missed the ceremony.

"I didn't ask the governor to favor for me at this time," Swanson remarked.

TALKS to PARENTS

Correcting Faults

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE.

It is not unusual for parents to go along, blind to their children's faults until some unpleasant or unfortunate occurrence suddenly brings them to their attention. Then, suddenly, they see that a great many things are wrong and all at once set about correcting them all.

The more things that are wrong with a child's behavior the more carefully we must go about trying to hlep him correct the faults. To be suddnely disapproved of in a wholesale fashion can only make him confused, irritated and unhappy.

What was all right yesterday has suddenly become wrong today. Yesterday's easy tolerance has disappeared for no reason that he can see, and he finds himself facing a running fire of correction and nagging, in a chilling atmosphere of continual disapproval.

Nine children out of ten respond to such treatment by becoming worse behaved than before or by becoming resentful, sullen, secretive and unhappy.

When suddenly it dawns on you that in a number of respects your child's conduct is not all it should be, remember that it will do no good to try to make him all over at once. Instead, decide which one of his faults most urgently demands correction and concentrate on helping him get rid of that one before you attempt to correct another.

If he is a young child under 7, try to help him by suggesting the right behavior without especially referring to what he does that is wrong.

If he is older, tell him frankly what you think ought to be changed and ask him to co-operate with you on a plan to meet the difficulty. Be sure to reward him with full appreciation and approval when he makes an effort to improve.

Educators and specialists in child guidance agree that it is desirable to give children a regular allowance.

Many parents, while not venturing to disagree with the soundness of the general idea, still refuse to give an allowance to their children. For this, they advance all sorts of reasons.

They can't afford the waste of money which would occur while the child was learning to manage such a regular weekly sum. Where the amount involved would be so small as to make such a reason appear foolish, they find others.

The child would spend it all the first day and then come begging for more. He would go to picture shows of an undesirable nature. He wouldn't be satisfied with the amount and would always be expecting more. He would come to think that he should have money as a matter of course and become unreasonably demanding.

Behind all such reasons one senses a single underlying motive on the part of the parent—an unwillingness to diminish even slightly the child's complete dependence upon him. The parent enjoys himself in the role of dictator in his child's life. He likes to be aware of the child's indebtedness to him for everything he has and enjoys.

When the child has a regular allowance of his own, subject to neither diminution or withdrawal for disciplinary reasons, a certain measure of independence develops which the parent feels as his loss.

It is a short-sighted policy, however, which makes him unwilling to give his child this independence.

Not only does it prevent the child from developing a realistic attitude toward money, but in the long run, it serves to engender unhappy frictions between father and child.

Undertaker Forced to Drive Bandits in His Ambulance to Robbery

HAMMOND, Ind., Sept. 11—(AP)—Hurrying to the scene of an accident to remove the body of a victim, Virgil Huber, local undertaker, told police he was kidnaped in his ambulance and forced to drive three bandits about while they located a place to rob.

Finally, Huber said, they picked on a tavern in Glenwood, Ill., held up 10 guests and then left him behind as they escaped in an automobile of one of the patrons of the place.

Almost as unusual was the accident to which Huber was hurrying when the trio stopped him. It occurred when two automobiles collided on an Erie railroad crossing and were struck a moment later by a feight tain. John Belschizk, 24, was killed and six others were injured, one critically.

WILL START WAR AGAINST WEEDS

City and Chamber Of Commerce To Cooperate in Move.

The city and the chamber of commerce will co-operate in a drive against weeds, as a result of a conference between members of the council, and E. N. Van Horne, chairman of the chamber city planning subdivision, in the mayor's office Monday. A survey of 100 lots will be made by city officials and chamber members, and letters will be sent to the owners, ordering the weeds cut at once. Failure to comply will result in the cutting being done by the city and the cost charged as a tax assessment against the property.

Mr. Van Horne told the council that he had just completed a 3,800 mile trip by auto, and found on his return to Lincoln that weeds are worse here than in any of the many cities he visited. "Conditions here are disgraceful," he said. "Property owners should be made to cut their weeds at once. If they do not, then the city should do the work and assess the cost against the property, collecting the amount as taxes."

Commissioner Bair, head of the street department, and L. C. Oberlies, city treasurer, explained that in previous years the cost of cutting weeds has been charged as a tax. Of $4,800 that went onto the books last year, Bair said, only $1,700 was collected. For the past summer more than $1,618 has been certified to the treasurer and entered on the general rolls for collection, a space having been added to the tax receipts for weed taxes.

The two commissioners also explained that the problem is not one of cutting and assessing the cost. It is one of paying the men who do the work. "We do not have the money," they said. "And when the property owners do not pay the city is out."

It also was brought out that the city does not have the funds to buy up property under tax sale. And it is impossible to sell property at scavanger sale unless authorized by an act of the legislature.

W. S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber, who accompanied Mr. Van Horne, said he will try to enlist the support of the Lincoln Garden club in the campaign.

Nurse Keeps Motive For Killing Secret

Refuses to Tell Why She Shot J. M. Grace Capitalist.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 11—(AP)—From a 43-year-old nurse, who police said admitted "trailing" Francis Joseph Morgan Grace, sr., 57, retired capitalist, until she killed him, authorities here today sought a motive for the slaying.

The nurse, Miss Frida Wilhelmina Augusta Weltz, accused of shooting Grace in the garden of his summer home Saturday night, refused to give a reason for the slaying, District Attorney Frank Murphy said.

Murphy said Miss Weltz, who was discharged by Grace as his nurse 18 months ago, admitted she had planned to kill him since that time.

"I had good and sufficient reasons to kill him," the district attorney quoted her, "but I wouldn't tell the reasons to my most intimate friend."

No Romance Involved.

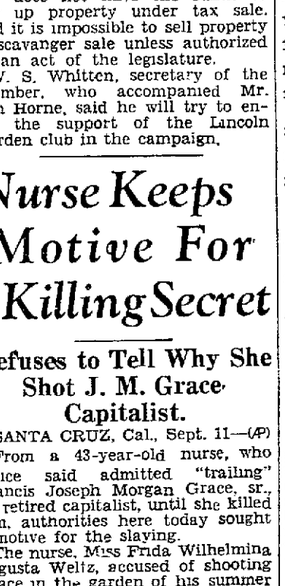

Miss Weltz asserted, Murphy said, there was "no romance involved," and added the "real reason would probably seem trivial to you."

Grace was a nephew of the late W. R. Grace, founder of the exporting and importing concern and shipping line.

Miss Helene Roberts, 28, his present nurse, who was sitting in the garden with him, told police Miss Weltz entered the grounds and after a brief conversation drew a pistol and shot Grace.

Miss Weltz was registered with the San Francisco County Nurses' association as a graduate of the nursing school of the Kensington hospital for women in Philadelphia. The registration gave the address of her mother, Mrs. Ida Weltz, as Connellsville, Pa.

Price Wants Action On Fund Discrepancy

Auditor Seeks Rectification Of $75,000 Item in State School Fund Account.

State Auditor W. B. Price is preparing to demand action this week toward rectifying a $75,000 discrepancy his office discovered last spring in the account of the state board of educational lands and funds, arising from transactions under the preceding administration.

Attorney General Paul Good has turned over to Assistant Attorney General Vail the problem of deciding what should be done in the case, and Vail in turn has asked the auditor's office to supply additional figures.

The coupons were detached from bonds bought for the educational fund at the time of the purchase as a result of a practice of indirectly paying permiums for the bonds. This custom has been discontinued by the present board. Price is demanding now that suit for an accounting be brought against Wachob Bender & Company of Omaha, which sold the bonds. Attorney Vail thinks that if suit is brought it should be for a specific sum as restitution due the state.

Two-Day Hearing On Reappraisals of Chase, Hayes County Lands

Two days each for Chase and Hayes county will be given by Land Commissioner Conklin to hold hearings on state school land reappraisals during the first week of October, because of the large acreages in each county and the number of tracts to be reviewed.

The Chase county session will start October 4 at Imperial at 9 a. m. There are 30,614 acres subject to revaluation in that county.

In Hayes county, which has 23,660 acres, the hearings will begin at Hayes Center on October 6.

COLON, Panama, Sept. 11—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Swanson, who arrived here today aboard the U. S. S. Indianapolis, said concerning the political situation in Cuba that "the United States wants to keep out of it."

"The United States has no purpose of intervening or interfering unless the protection of American life becomes necessary," he said.

STATE HITS HIGH INTEREST RATES

Usury Reports Checked; Unlicensed Loan Firm Withdraws Agents.

An initial triumph in the secretary of state campaign against unlicensed chattel loan companies was recorded Monday as information reached his office that a concern operating out of Kansas City had withdrawn its agents from York, Adams and Hall counties.

Meantime officials in the office were planning to bring their campaign to a head by filing a test suit against a firm doing business in this state without license. L. B. Maupin of the office said the attorney general was studying whether to bring civil or criminal action or both and that proceedings would be filed in district court at Omaha this week or next.

Interest is 320 Per Cent.

An instance of a borrower being charged what amounted to 320 per cent interest is reported by Wayne Van Riper, accountant for the secretary of state's office, who is making reports of the 55 licensed firms in the state and checking up on the others.

The Kansas City company which Maupin said was making usurious interest charges did its business through agents while the responsible officers remained in Missouri.

"We had to fight fire with fire," Maupin said. "The heat was applied by getting from the county clerks of the three counties affected lists of borrowers. To each of the 70 borrowers who had dealings with the Kansas City company, notice was sent that under the usury laws they would not be required to pay back their loans."

Had Been Defiant.

Hearing of this, the Kansas City company, which had taken a defiant attitude, paid off its agents and stopped doing business in Nebraska.

Practices of some of the unlicensed companies are in sharp contrast to the straight forward tactics of those operating under proper supervision, Maupin said. In only one case has the secretary of state's office found serious fault with the business methods of a licensed firm.

Van Riper, the first regular auditor ever employed by the secretary of state's office, has been in a number of cities during two months past and found scores of unlicensed companies. Maupin said that some of the chattel loans in Omaha had given the most trouble.

Seek Settlement McCook Milk War

McCOOK, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—A local settlement board may succeed McCook's old NRA group in attempts to close the "milk war" that slashed retail prices from 8 to 3 cents a quart here during the week past. Dairymen conferred today with Keith Neville, North Platte, a member of the state NRA board. Neville suggested the settlement group following the announcement that th old NRA board of McCook had resigned. It consisted of G. A. Bash, chairman; H. P. White and Mayor M. Campbell. The settlement committee may be appointed in two days. Meantime the price cuts, with the combined dairymen arrayed against independents, remain in force.

Measure O Street For Data On Plan For Resurfacing

Employes of the city engineer's office Monday were measuring the distance from Eighth street to Thirty-seventh, as a preliminary to the city making application for the federal government for funds to resurface O street. The city also will make application for sufficient fund to rebuild the ornamental lighting system over a portion of the distance.

While the engineers are busy on the surveys, City Clerk Berg, and City Attorney Max Kier are preparing the financial and legal statements that must accompany the applications. Both have been busy at least three weeks on these phases of the proposed projects.

In addition to the resurfacing and lighting projects, the city also will ask for funds with which to better the water distribution system. The total to be requested will probably amount to around $300,000. Of this $200,000 will be for water improvements $35,000 for a new reservoir at Ashland, and the rest for O street.

SEWER REPAIR CONTRACT LET

Work Is To Begin At Once and Be Completed By October 23.

The city council Monday afternoon awarded to Martin-Day Co. of Lincoln, the contract for repairing the break in the intercepting sanitary sewer north of the fairgrounds, City Engineer D. L. Erickson having reported that firm's bid as the best. The contract price, $6,480, includes the riprapping of the south bank of Salt creek, as a protection against future washouts. The work will start Tuesday morning, and is to be completed not later than October 23.

Hearings were held and licenses granted on three applications to sell beer at retail. One of the applicants was the C. B. & Q. railroad company, for on and off sale sale licenses at depot restaurant, 201 North Seventh street. Ed B. Hardy, 911 South Thirteenth street, was the other.

A number of applications for zoning reclassifications were referred to the zoning board of appeals. A protest against the operation of Smith's Home dairy at Thirty-third and A streets, was referred to the city attorney.

The city clerk was directed to draw warrants for the payment of the state tax on gasoline sold by the municipal gasoline department in August. Sales to the public were 95,042 gallons, and the tax, $3,771.79. The tax on the 7,215 gallons sold to city departments, is $288.60. An inspection fee of $31.62, the tax of $316.56, and inspection fees of $2.45 on 8,159 gallons purchased by E. M. Bair for street department equipment, also were ordered paid.

Municipal coal sales in August were reported by J. O. Chapman as 115 tons for $1,054.44.

SUPREME COURT CASES INCREASE

New Calendar Shows 45 Per Cent Gain Over Last Year.

An increase of 45 per cent over 1932 and 17 per cent over two years ago in number of cases pending on appeal to the Nebraska supreme court during its term which will start September 18 is shown by the printed docket just off the press and now ready for distribution among attorneys. The last cases included are those filed on August 26.

The total number of both civil and criminal actions on the calendar is 360, compared with 254 a year ago and 299 in 1931. No one class of cases seems to be represented in the increase more than another, Clrk Turner said.

While the present trend of litigation appears to be on a rising curve, the volume is still only half of what it was a few years ago, when the court was struggling to catch up with an accumulated list of nearly a thousand unheard cases.

The old supreme court commission passed out of existence two years ago, its help being no longer needed in keeping up with the docket.

This edition of the printed calendar contains a list of all registered practicing attorneys in Nebraska, by counties and postoffice addresses, revised and brought up to date.

It also has the amended rules of practice for admission to the bar, the principal changes in which are stiffer requirements relating to law office students.

Rule No. 3 of this code provides that one obtaining his legal education by studying in an attorney's office must put in at least 20 hours a week and 40 weeks in a year during the three years' period specified for completion of his course. The registration fee for such students is raised from 50 cents to $5, under Rule 7.

The latter rule also authorizes the state bar commission to make inquiries into the amount and kind of work being done by an individual student in an office.

No lawyer who has not been in practice for five years may act as preceptor to a student, and no more than three persons may be enrolled as students in any office at the same time.

Omaha Group Confers With State Relief Officials In Lincoln

Mayor Roy N. Towl and other officials and citizens of Omaha were at the capitol Monday afternoon to confer with State Tax Commissioner Smith, chairman of the state committee in charge of federal relief funds, and Frank D. Throop, resident member of that body, relative to unemployment conditions prevailing in Omaha and the needs of the situation there.

They also expected to talk with Governor Bryan during the afternoon; but the governor had previously referred them to Mr. Smith and his organization.

The state relief offices has official requests from Garfield and Thurston countes to be included in future federal relief allotments. There are 58 counties in all now on the list.

Lifting of Insurance Moratorium Does Not Affect Grace Periods

Lifting of the insurance moratorium in Nebraska will not require immediate premium payments by policyholders who have received additional 30 day periods of grace under the moratorium regulations. The office of the state insurance commissioner said Monday policyholders who have already obtained the additional grace periods need not pay until the end of such periods.

Two Omaha Motorists Are Killed In Accidents; Stanton Trucker Is Burned To Death In Cab

STREET CAR AND AUTO IN CRASH

Youth Loses Life When Vehicles Come Together at Night.

OMAHA, Sept. 11—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 14 were injured, one critically, in automobile accidents here over the week-end. The dead are John Ehernberger, 54, retired real estate dealer, and Lawrence Miller, 19, of Omaha.

Miller was killed almost instantly last night when a car in which he was riding sideswiped a street car. With him was Donald Burke, 18, who is in a hospital suffering from internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. His condition is fair.

The dead youth was at first thought to be another Omaha man, but when this man was found alive police renewed their investigation.

Ehernberger was killed Sunday when the car he was driving was struck by one driven by R. W. Swanson of Omaha. Miss Mae Clark of Omaha, riding with Ehernberger, was injured severely, while Swanson, his wife and another woman riding with them were bruised.

An inquest was to be held today into this crash. The remainder of the 14 injuries recorded during the week-end were not serious.

Discontinue Buying Pigs For Government

South Omaha Packers Have Purchased Entire Number Alloted to Them.

OMAHA, Sept. 11 — (AP) — With enough pigs here to exhaust present government buying orders for this market, issuance of pig permits was halted today pending new buying allotments for Omaha packers. With a carryover of 10,000 pigs left unsold at the close of the market Saturday, another 20,000 were shipped into the yards today.

Packers purchases for government contract today will take only 8,000 and additional purchases tomorrow will exhaust the week's allotment of eighteen thousand.

"Our policy now is watchful waiting," said F. S. Rickard, chairman of the control committee. "No further permits will be issued until we have something definite from Washington.

"New allotments, permitting the purchase of more pigs here, are expected, but until we are sure of new quotas, we will stop all government buying activities here."

YORK TO VOTE ON BEER ISSUE

Special Election To Be Held There Next Thursday.

YORK, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—Late next Thursday evening the voters of York will know whether they will be permitted to legally buy a glass of 3.2 beer or if they must continue to drive to neighboring towns for the amber fluid.

For Thursday is the date set for the special election on the beer issue, climaxing a spirited battle between wets and drys which began several weeks ago when the council expressed its readiness to adopt an ordinance governing the sale of 3.2 beer.

The drys circulated petitions of remonstrance against such action and claimed to have obtained the required 50 per cent of the qualified voters to tie the council's hands.

But the wets didn't think so and neither did some members of the council. A special committee was named to check the lists for duplications and illegal signatures. A large number were stricken. A series of special meetings was held by the council, but after all the debate, the council voted to accept the remonstrance petition. The wets then started a petition calling upon the council to call a special election and obtained the signatures of over 1,200 persons.

After obtaining an opinion from Attorney General Good the election was called. York has never had a licensed saloon.

Condition of U. S. Banks Is Termed 'Very Gratifying'

CHICAGO, Sept. 11—(AP)—Banks of the United States had deposits of $43,445,201,879 and total resources of $54,029,182,993 on June 30, R. N. Sims, secretary, told the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks as the group convened for the annual convention today.

Sims' report covered all the states by totals and is the only available report on non-national banks comparable with the report of the comptroller of the currency for national banks, making possible a total for all banks in the country.

"The figures are very gratifying when we consider the most distressing conditions which have confronted the business of the whole world during the last year and a half," Sims said.

"On June 30 there was a total of 17,400 banks of which 11,513 were state and 5,887 national banks. In round numbers they had total capital, surplus and undivided profits of $7,156,724,000.

"This was a reduction of $1,429,322,774 from December 31, 1931. In the same period the reduction in total deposits was $6,768,990,736 and total resources $9,101,367,971.

HEARING CALLED ON 5 PROJECTS

Public Works Board To Meet Thursday At Fremont.

The Nebraska advisory board of the federal emergency administration of public works will hold hearings Thursday at Fremont on five projects.

Each project seeks a 30 per cent federal grant and the remainder of its total as a loan from the federal government. J. E. Lawrence, the spokesman for the board, announced the projects as follows:

City of Scottsbluff $70,900 for paving, curbing and gutters.

Village of Dodge $17,142 for water extension.

Village of Louisville $9,000 for water extension.

Chadron state normal college dormitory corporation $140,000 for new dormitory.

City of Harrington, $20,400 for sewage disposal plant.

Norfolk Receives Almost Inch Rain In Last Two Days

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—Cool cloudy weather, accompanied by rain in scattered sections last night, broke the fourth hottest tenday September hot wave on record in northeast Nebraska.

The heaviest rainfall, according to reports to the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, fell in Norfolk and vicinity, where precipitation totaled .80 of an inch last night, Saturday night .14 of an inch fell.

During the first ten days of this month the average temperature here was 91.9 degrees. It was 96 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

The hottest ten day period in this month was in 1915, when the average from the first to the tenth was 95.6 degrees.

The Burlington office in Lincoln reported 1.15 inches of rain at Burwell, one-half inch at Sargent and Comstock, one-fourth at Ord, and light rains at Oakland, Horace, and between Ferry and Royal.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST FORKS

West Point Carpenter is Accused of Slaying Neighbor.

WEST POINT, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed here today against Ed Forks, West Point carpenter, for the slaying last Friday of his neighbor, Charles Moulton. The complaint was filed in County court by County Attorney H. R. Ellenberger.

Forks has not been arraigned on the charge.

Mrs. Forks said her husband was jealous of Moulton and had threatened to kill him. Officers said the man apparently had no reason to be jealous of his neighbor. Forks had been drinking the night before the slaying.

Discuss Organizing Wheat Associations

Representatives of Four States Meet In Omaha and Consider Plans For Work.

Preparations for getting county wheat associations organized in Nebraska were being discussed in Omaha today as representatives of four states, including Nebraska, gathered there for a conference with Dr. L. M. Vaughan of Washington. Those attending included R. E. Holland, Elton Lux, P. H. Stewart and Harold Hedges, all of the agricultural college extension service.

Kansas, Iowa and Missouri were also to be represented at the Omaha meeting. Problems regarding the calculations of allotments in the states and counties were being discussed.

In Nebraska "filing days" for applications for contracts to reduce acreage under the adjustment plan are practically completed. Although no definite statement has been given out regarding the exact number of applications received, administrators at the college of agriculture feel sure that it will run over 20,000 in Nebraska alone.

Counties which have about finished their "filing days" are now preparing to hold organization meetings. Wheat producers themselves will be elected to the board of directors of their local organizations and have direct control over the administration of the act locally. The agricultural college extension service has been conducting the educational campaign to inform every wheat producer in the state about the details of the plan. Over 70,000 people attended these sessions.

Immediately following the return of the administrators from Omaha late Tuesday, it is thought that more definite information regarding the set-up of the county wheat associations in Nebraska will be given out.

IF YOU OWN A

FORD

That Ford of yours is built to last. It has the stamina to stand up year after year. But even the sturdiest metals and the finest engineering can't prevent trouble if you neglect the cooling-system.

Right now — before freezing weather, have your radiator filled with the proper amount of Eveready Prestone and water. One gallon of Eveready Prestone, at $2.95, gives any Ford except the V-8 all-winter protection to zero. The V-8 takes two gallons for zero protection. For other makes, see your dealer's chart.

Eveready Prestone not only saves your car from freeze-ups, but prevents rust and clogging. It won't boil away. And it costs less per season because it's concentrated—not water-diluted. Approved by all car manufacturers, including Ford, and fully guaranteed by National Carbon Co., Inc., New York, N. Y.

*Records show Lincoln has freezing temperatures by Oct. 10. Put in Eveready Prestone now, for safe, all-winter protection.

FIRE STARTS AS TRUCK DITCHED

Vehicle Overturns and Driver Unable To Free Self.

NORFOLK, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—Richard Kirkland, 35 and married, of Stanton, died in a Norfolk hospital at 4:30 this morning of burns received early last night when his livestock truck turned over near Crowell and was destroyed by fire.

The accident occurred at a railway crossing. Kirkland apparently misjudging a sharp curve in the highway. When his truck failed to follow the road it landed in a ditch, turned over and immediately caught fire.

Trapped in the cab, Kirkland was severely burned about every part of his body except his back. Passing motorists took him to West Point, where he was placed in an ambulance and brought to the hospital here. He arrived about midnight.

Kirkland was an employe of the Belz Transfer company of Stanton. The body was taken to Stanton, where funeral services will be held.

Attorneys To Take Loan Applications

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—Charles Smrha, state manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation, has announced that the organization is now complete throughout the state, and that arrangements have been made for the corporation's attorney in each county to receive applications for loans. Heretofore all applications have been made at the offices of the corporation, but as this has in many cases required long drives upon the part of prospective borrowers, the new plan has been adopted. The new system, it is stated, saves the borrower much trouble and involves no expense.

AN INTENSELY HUMAN PROBLEM.

THE action of a Lincoln county delegation in appearing before Governor Bryan to present a proposal authorizing the state board of educational lands and funds to write down or mark off its books 75 per cent of the $30,000 of bonds held by the state against an impoverished drainage district is the natural sequel of a widespread campaign for debt repudiation.

Any discussion of the question, a highly controversial one at this time and for some months past, is certain to arouse strong feeling. There are so many appealing human elements involved. It is not pleasant to contemplate a settled public policy which involves the suffering inherent in the loss of homes and farms. The emotional elements embraced reach down to what is perhaps the most deeply ingrained instinct in America. For the defense of home, men will die. For the protection of the home, nations have gone to war. It is a glorious virtue; now, as in the past, one of the main elements of strength.

In this column repeatedly in recent weeks, it has been said that a sorry mess of debt adjustment has been made. The moratoriums enacted in different states merely postponed a decision, and if anything, tended only to aggravate conditions. They had the effect of enlarging rather than minimizing the differences between debtors and creditors; they were a fertile breeding ground for a false psychology; and in the end, it will be seen that they only added to the troubles of the very people they were supposed to help.

The debt problem is assuming new stature in recent weeks, until it is a dominant factor operating against other forces which make for national recovery. It is the one uncertain factor now, and it is removed so far that it affects all others. Faith has been restored in leadership, in business practice, in financial policies. But the debtor and the creditor both are wandering around still in a fog, uncertain of what shadow shall emerge to confront them. The debtor can't proceed and the creditor cannot chart a path—the former because he cannot foresee whether he is to be dispossessed ultimately of his land, and the latter because he is not sure whether the investment which represents his savings may be a repudiated obligation.

IN THE case of these Lincoln county people, the facts are plain. They are about to lose their homes, if the representations which have been made are true. That is a distressing circumstance. Cold blooded would be the man or woman untouched by compassion and sympathy by the plight of impoverished farmers. Lacking entirely in humanness would be the individual who did not experience a throb of regret and sorrow as those facts are made public. No normal being derives pleasure from the misfortunes of others.

It is questionable whether the board of educational lands and funds has the legal authority to write down these bonds. It even is more questionable whether, under the plan advanced, the legislature legally could levy a general tax upon all of the people of the state for the purpose of reimbursing the school funds for the amount written down. If the practice is started, there will be no end. The state of Nebraska has millions of dollars invested in the bonds of its political subdivisions. Among them undoubtedly are the obligations of many communities suffering severely at this time and compelled to make the most rigid sacrifice to meet their debts.

But were it possible legally, it is a fair question whether the doctrine of repudiation of debt presents the proper road out for the individual or for the mass citizenry of the nation. Our civilization is built only on one thing and that is honor and integrity. There never has been an individual or a community, large or small, who or which repudiated its obligations that did not live to see the day such action was regretted. Suppose the man deeply involved at this time succeeds in driving a sharp bargain, or is enabled to escape entirely, what assurance is there that ten years from now, when he himself, having enjoyed a run of prosperity, becomes a creditor, will not be confronted by repudiation on the part of those owing him? If it is possible to repudiate debts in this emergency, there always will be circumstances justifying similar action in the years to come. Let this country embark upon that program and it will leave very little for the future. It will cut the foundations out from under the nation, and the succeeding generations.

IT DOES not mean that the man in debt should be dispossessed of his home, or of his land. There ought to be enough decency, enough of the sense of justice, enough of a truly American spirit among the creditor class to prevent such a tragedy taking place. There should be those qualities within individuals mindful of the momentous conditions prevalent in this country, to desire to do the proper thing without resort to courts and to law.

The creditor would be encouraged if in thousands of cases his debtor showed the slightest inclination to pay a dime or a dollar. The debtor would be heartened if his creditor showed the slightest concern in his welfare. Law can't prescribe a formula for that peculiarly human situation. It can be developed only out of the goodness of heart of the people working with one aim in mind. There needs to be assurance and co-operation between the debtors and the creditors. The creditor can't stand off and close his lips tightly and say that he'll fall back on his rights. The debtor, smarting under the sting of a fickle era which gave him a 50 cent dollar when he borrowed and expecting him to pay back two for one, should not nurse hatred and bitterness in his heart and turn his thoughts to repudiation. If he does, he will forfeit his credit, his most valuable asset in the future. Neither neighbor, friend nor stranger will loan him money when he needs it. There will be no foundation for transacting business in this country. When repudiation comes, the race is run, until new generations, imbued with different ideals, take up the burdens.

The whole program of this administration goes back to the debt situation. The president is fighting to restore prices to the levels of 1926, because that year's values represent the average of the period during which the debt was accumulated. If he fails, then the time is ripe to consider what shall be done. During the period intervening until values reach the level of 1926, it will be necessary for people—both debtor and creditor—to think clearly and honestly. Never was there a more intensely human situation before the public than the one involved in meeting the requirements of debt.

THE FOREIGN LEGION FINISHES ITS JOB.

THANKS to a number of modern novelists, and to Hollywood and the movies, the French Foreign Legion stimulates American imagination. It was the port of missing men, the haven to which fled those who had failed, those who had incurred disgrace, those who had violated law and were fugitives from justice, these who had yearned for sheer adventure.

Always the French Foreign Legion was fighting in outlandish places—under a blazing sun in the desert—steaming in the jungles—arrayed against peoples of primitive habits and barbaric practices. One wondered why the Legion never finished its job; why year after year young men seeking oblivion baked and perspired, ate poor food, endured horrible physical hardships, and courted death. It seemed there should be an end instead of an uninterrupted campaign stretching on into the years.

Now announcement comes from Morocco that the Legion has terminated a twenty-five year campaign. With the mopping up forces of the French army turning their guns on the last of the dissident Berbers on Koucer peak in the Atlas mountains, the French government is confident that its quarter of a century campaign of Moroccan pacification has been finished. Crafty old Zaid Ou Skounti capitulated with royal dignity in his rocky lair on the crest of the Djepel Badou. He had a sense of the proprieties while recognizing the inevitable. He refused to see the French emissaries even while surrendering. With him were his two wives, his three children, 106 warriors, and 4,000 goats, sheep, and camels. He and they surrendered not because of lack of courage, but through thirst.

Back in 1907, an American president had to threaten a Moroccan bandit. A year later, the French took up the job of spanking him. It has been a prolonged stay in the wood shed. Now that the spanking is complete, the French may count the cost in blood and in gold, and balance it on one side of the ledger while surveying a tiny strip of God forsaken waste, which couldn't support a civilized people under any circumstances. It leaves the movies and the novelists disconsolate, and the Foreign Legion without a job.

JUDGE MORRISSEY.

JUDGE ANDREW M. MORRISSEY came into state prominence first when Congressman John H. Morehead, then serving Nebraska as its governor, appointed Mr. Morrissey to be his private secretary. There had been no previous political friendship between the two, but the high regard which Mr. Morehead came to have for his chief aide was revealed when the former governor, filling a vacancy on the Nebraska supreme court bench, appointed Mr. Morrissey as chief justice. For two terms, he was reelected, going down to defeat in the campaign of 1926.

Judge Morrissey filled the high office with ability, distinction, and dignity. Under him, the court made rapid progress in cleaning up a docket which had become far behind. It was to his credit that he forced the portion of the bar which had opposed his appointment as political to recognize his splendid qualifications. He was invariably fair in his rulings and in his treatment of practitioners appearing before the court. He was kindly and gentle, especially so in the instance of young lawyers making their initial appearance. He was a scholar and a philosopher of liberal tendencies.

As a man, Judge Morrissey was a delightful companion. He had a keen sense of humor and enjoyed a joke, but he never permitted it to bring a hurt to another. Aside from his profession, he followed national affairs with an avid interest. The closing years of his life found him handicapped in physical health, but despite it, he always was cheery, always pleasant, always genial and courteous. He will take rank among the most outstanding members of the Nebraska supreme court.

THE MAE WEST INFLUENCE.

WE'LL admit our curiosity is whetted. For the past few weeks, scanning the newspapers, this expression frequently appears: "The Mae West influence will be felt."

Reading along a little further, the discovery is made that when a famous Paris fashionist was addressing a group in New York and alluded to Mae, she said it related only to fancy dress costumes. Then her next words left us groggy. "Don't be too hippy," she admonished.

Alas and alack! Just when there seemed to be some hope that hips would be hips, along comes Marjorie Howard and knocks expectations for a curve. There was a day when the fat woman wanted to be slender, and the slender woman wanted to be fat, and life hasn't been quite the same since all the women aspired to the slender silhouette. It's what ails the country today. If women would eat more thick steaks, more butter, more slices of bread, and less lettuce and lemons, Secretary Wallace and his crop reduction aids would be out of a job. Our only acquaintance with Mae is on the screen, but if what the gal is attempting to do is to bring back the old-fashioned curves, we're for her, and we'll vote her a desk along side General Johnson in the battle for national recovery.

A DOUBLE-BARRELED WATER SUPPLY.

ONE municipal asset of great worth possessed by the city of Lincoln, not duplicated elsewhere in this region by any city of equal or greater size, is two separate and independent sources of water supply. During the past week the vital importance of this arrangement was amply demonstrated.

Except for the wells in the Antelope creek valley, which had been temporarily out of use, the people of Lincoln would have been compelled to go on using muddy fluid from the Ashland reservoir for two or three days, until the cause of the trouble there was detected and removed. The existence of an alternative supply enabled the water department to shut off the flow from Ashland and turn pure, fresh well water into the local mains.

Few public water plants the country over have what is known as "standby service." Omaha, for instance, depends altogether on its pumping plant which takes water from the Missouri river and runs it through a series of settling and filtering basins. It is good water when it comes through, but if anything should go seriously wrong the city could look to no other place for its daily supply. Lincoln was formerly in the same position when it depended altogether on the local wells. It experienced a shortage of water on that account nearly every year; and that condition made it necessary to go to Ashland and tap the sandy bottoms along the Platte river for more abundant supplies.

Giving the wells a "rest" has brought back the water level to practically its former height, so that even if the trouble at Ashland had been prolonged a week or more they could have been drawn upon to the limits of their capacity.

Lincoln folks will always feel more secure, after this experience, in knowing that they need feel no fear of getting enough water for at least the necessities of domestic and industrial use, even though they might have to skimp a little in watering lawns in an emergency.

QUESTION.
Bridgeport, Conn.
Where can I get the best help to preach a series of sermons on the Old Testament?

ANSWER.

From the Book itself. Begin with the panorama of Creation in Genesis, trace the development of the Pentateuch. Make the historical books yield you their wealth of portraiture and of significant events. Give heed to the Wisdom literature. Revel in the rich spiritualism of the Psalms and approach the prophets as God's patricians in the kingdom of Heaven on earth.

If you must have extraneous aid, and this is more or less essential, select the best commentary within your range on each book in the canon, and get the one volume Abingdon Commentary or that of the late Professor Peake, both of which cover the Old Testament as a whole. For practical use, read Halford E. Lucock's "Preaching Values in the Old Testament," a unique, original and thoroughly homiletical work by an author of spiritual insight and keen discrimination. Do not hesitate to enlist the help of Sir George Adam Aram Smith's volumes on the Old Testament seers, and also those of Dr. Alexander Whyte on the men and women of the Hebrew oracles. They are a treasure house of truths new and old, your acquisition of which should be accelerated by the clear understanding that no preacher can interpret the New Testament who is not familiar with the Old.

QUESTION.
Harrisburg, Pa.
What can a person do on his own initiative to help the poor and unemployed?

ANSWER.

Much in various ways. One man was largely instrumental in rescuing the fine city of Dayton, Ohio, from the perils of a great flood. What he did on a large scale every one can do in proportion according to his or her financial ability, for today anxiety beclouds millions of families throughout the land.

They are concerned for bread, shelter and employment. They have borne their load bravely for months and even years. They know, as well all know, that selfishness and panic spell defeat. It is our first duty to inspire them with renewed hope and to so act toward them that hope becomes reasonable.

Concerted planning and co-operation are signposts on the road to permanent relief. Federal and state agencies are being mobolized to that end. But these should be backed up by personal sharing and personal influence. To assist your neighbor who is in distress is a paramount civic obligation dictated by enlightened self-interest.

Within a mile of your home are men, women and children whose needs are desperate. They are your primary charge, and you should feel personally responsible for their investigation and aid. Countless workless parents, single women and members of professional groups have not proclaimed their dire condition. But it is obvious and every relief worker knows of it. These silent sufferers ought to appeal to you the more effectively because of their commendable pride and reticence.

Seek them out, cut off the pleasures which give you no lasting satisfaction, and seek your own in another's good. Do it now, and do not desert the colors with the false excuse that you are not required at the front. That is exactly your place so long as others starve because they have no workand will not beg.

QUESTION.
Charleston, W. Va.
What was the origin of sacrifices and altars in religion?

ANSWER.

They existed from the beginning of the history of the human race and acquired both religious and social meanings. Two kinds of sacrifice should be kept in mind, the blood offering and the bloodless offering. Primitive man considered blood as equivalent to life and the Hebrew Scriptures adopted his view. This was the principal idea underlying the blood offering, and from it arose the ancient concept that intermingling of the life stream made men brothers. Life was given or taken in aboriginal cults for the purpose of tribal invigoration and success in peace and war. The soul of the chosen victim was supposed to return to its Giver—the great Over Soul— for His spiritual enrichment.

The bloodless offering consisted largely of agricultural products. These were the contribution of those who tilled the soil and solicited through their gifts favorable weather and abundant crops. Hunters sacrificed animals of the chase that they might be fortunate in it.

The unity of life in human beings, the lower creation and the vegetable world gave rise to the belief that only by giving life could more and better life be assured.

When the doctrine of a supreme and righteous Deity dawned upon the darkened race it brought with it emancipation from many of the above superstitions. Christianity gave sublime interpretation to the truth they contained, and centered it in the Cross of the world's Redeemer. Experience confirms the principle that Divine Love was manifested in the suffering of the Highest for the lower as the sole way of human betterment. It establishes the character of God for His children and creates in them the response of adoration and loyalty.

Reddy and Mrs. Reddy Discuss Traps

To lay a trap or set a snare
Is neither sport nor is it fair.
—Reddy Fox.

"Well, where have you been?" asked Mrs. Reddy as Reddy Fox returned from a hunting trip.

"Down along the Big River," replied Reddy.

"What luck?" asked Mrs. Reddy.

"Not much," replied Reddy. "A couple of Frogs was all. But I found something down there."

"What was it," asked Mrs. Reddy yawning. She too had been hunting and was tired.

"A trap," replied Reddy.

Mrs. Reddy stopped a yawn in the very middle. "A trap!" she exclaimed. "This isn't the time of year for traps."

Reddy nodded. "I know," said he. "That is quite true."

"It isn't fair," persisted Mrs. Reddy.

"When were traps ever fair?" asked Reddy.

"You know what I mean," retorted Mrs. Reddy. "Of course they never are fair, never. But it is a lot more unfair when they are set at this time of year when they are not supposed to be set and so no one is looking for them."

"This one I found was set last winter," said Reddy.

"How do you know when it was set?" demanded Mrs. Reddy.

"It had been sprung," replied Reddy.

"Then it wasn't dangerous," said Mrs. Reddy, beginning to lose interest.

"There was something in it," said Reddy.

Right away Mrs. Reddy's interest returned. "What?" she demanded.

"A leg bone," replied Reddy gravely.

"How dreadful!" exclaimed Mrs. Reddy. "Whose do you suppose it was?"

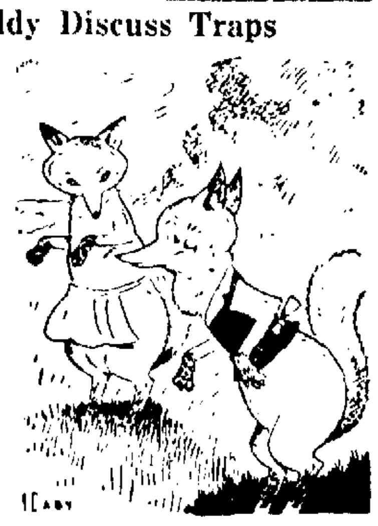

"There were some other bones scattered around," continued Reddy. "They belonged to a relative of Jerry Muskrat's."

"How do you know that?" demanded Mrs. Reddy.

"By the toes and claws," replied Reddy. "Of course you know, my dear, what it means."

Mrs. Reddy nodded. "It means," said she, "that one of those dreadful two-legged creaures called men set that trap and then went off and forgot it."

"Exactly," replied Reddy. "And then a Muskrat stepped in it and was caught and was held there until he died. I think traps are the most awful things in all the Great World. There is nothing fair about them. You can't fight them. It isn't hunting. None of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows would think of trying to catch their neighbors in any such unfair way."

"You know what I mean," retorted Mrs. Reddy.

"Of course not," spoke up Mrs. Reddy. "I can't imagine anyone but one of those two-legged creatures doing such a thing. We hunt, but only for food, and when we catch one of those we hunt that is the end of them right away. We don't allow them to live and suffer. That is what men do with steel traps."

Reddy nodded agreement. As I said before, no one but man would think of setting a trap."

Just then Mrs. Reddy grinned. It was a sly grin. "Of course I don't like to tell you that you are wrong, but you are," said she. "What is that thing spread across the entrance to the old hole we do not use any more?"

"What a silly quesion," exclaimed Reddy. "It's a spider web, of course."

"Of course," replied Mrs. Reddy. "And you just said that none of the little people would think of setting traps. If that isn't a kind of trap what is it?"

Reddy looked a bit foolish. "Right, my dear. Quite right," he admitted. "I forgot the spiders. They do trap. But they are the only ones who do."

"Don't be too sure," replied Mrs. Reddy.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

HOW HARDENING OF EAR DRUM WILL CAUSE SINGING NOISES

"Re: singing noises in the ears," writes a reader. "An ailment that seems to be common—singing noises as of insects, constantly in one ear—has afflicted myself and some others here for months. No pain, no abscess, no sign of catarrh. My other ear is deaf. My sister and her husband also have it. She is deaf in one ear and he partially in both.

Dr. Clendening

"There is much of this trouble among people in this neighborhood. I can hardly believe it is caused by bathing in the lakes, because people have it who never go near the lakes."

The complaint of head noises is indeed a common one. My correspondent is right in his observations that it is not accompanied by abscess or discharge from the ears. It is, as he notes, usually accompanied by partial deafness. And he is right in that it is not caused by bathing, or getting water in the ears.

It is due to a chronic process of hardening of the drum of the ear and ligaments of the small bones of the middle ear. Although this usually is accompanied by gradually increasing deafness, the patients generally complain far more of the head noises than the deafness.

The little bones of the middle ear are among the most delicate and beautiful structures of the body. Three little spicules joined together, they connect the eardrum with the receiving sense organ or hearing. They have been baptized with fanciful names suggested by their appearance. The first one, the malleolus, or hammer, is attached to the inside of the eardrum. It in turn is jointed to the incus, or anvil, and the incus joins the stapes, or stirrup. The stapes is exactly the shape of a stirrup, and its flat end fits into the window of the cochlea, which is the real organ of hearing.

Nature has arranged this mechanism as a means to the reception of sound. When sound vibrates the eardrum these tiny bones (all three are no bigger than the little finger-nail) play on each other like the spring of an automobile, and the sound vibration is finall transmitted to the fluid in the actual organ of hearing, stimulating the fine nerve fibrils which transmit the sensation to the mind.

Now it is easy to understand that if the exquisite little joint surfaces joining these bones become hardened and begin to contract, there will result a series of assaults on the organ of hearing which sound like a boiler factory in full operation.

The noises are variously interpreted by different persons. To some they resemble escaping steam, to others buzzing or running water; in other cases they are a series of crackling and explosive noises. They are worse in the quiet of the night, and may be so bad that they prevent sleep.

Much can be done to relieve the condition by early treatment, but that and the management of the accompanying deafness will be described tomorrow.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. ONE OF MY FAULTS.

Oh, so much better I would be
If only I'd the power to see
My neckwear, handkerchiefs and hose
Which lie beneath my very nose.

Could I discover right off hand
My shirt studs in my dressing stand
Or find my shoes of white and tan
It would improve me as a man.

If I were not foredoomed to shout:
"Hey, mother! I've looked all about',
My white belt's nowhere to be found!"
I'd be all right to have around.

But up the stairway Nellie flies
In answer to my frantic cries
And finds the things I want to wear
Precisely where she said they were.

Accord Between The Vatican and Germany Ratified

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11—(AP)—Ratifications of a concordat between Germany and the holy see were exchanged yesterday by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and Dr. Eugene Von Klee, counsellor in the German embassy at Vatican City, it was announced today.

The action ended rumors that fundamental difficulties had arisen between the vatican and the reich.

The pope was reported in vatican circles as not altogether pleased with the situation in Germany, partly because of Chancellor Hitler's attitude towards Jews who have become Christians, but they said there were no grounds for refusing to ratify the agreement.

The church agreed to keep its priests and religious associations out of politics, and the state gave its word to the continuance of Catholic religious associations whether clerical or lay, provided they be confined to religious activities.

Righting Wrongs.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 7.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In your editorial columns recently you had two items dealing with present conditions that deserve much consideration. The terrible situation in which the whole world finds itself at present is not a new condition at all as will be clearly seen in the reading of historical writings. Henry George in "Progress and Poverty" and "The Land Question," written in the latter 19th century tells about exactly he same conditions we are experiencing oday.

Why the remedy Mr. George offers is not accepted is hard to understand. In an open letter to Pope Leo XIII, September 11, 1891: "To persist in a wrong, to refuse to undo it, is always to become involved in other wrongs. Those who defend private property in land and thereby they deny the first and most important of all human rights, the equal right to the material substratum of life, are compelled to one of two courses. Either they must do as those whose gospel is "Devil take the hindmost," deny the equal right to life, by some theory like that to which the English clergyman Malthus has given his name, assert that nature (they do not venture to say God) brings into the world more man than there is provision for; or they must as do the socialists, assert as rights what in themselves are wrong."

"Today a wider, deeper, more beneficent revolution is brooding, not over one country, but over the world. God's truth impels it and forces mightier than he has ever before given to man urge it on. It is no more in the power of vested wrongs to stay it than it is in man's power to stay the sun. The stars in their courses fight against Sisera, and in the firmament of today to him who hath ears to hear the doom of industrial slavery is sealed."

Never a Surplus.

Burr Oak, Kas., Sept. 8.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: We read a lot about the wheat plan, the NRA and what a help it has been. We Kansas farmers cannot think that way. The wheat plan is good for the man that farms wheat, but the man that farms corn now has to pay $1.80 for 48 pounds of flour and about 60 cents for wheat.

About two months ago the same sack could be had for 65 cents. Now that is not the help that we were told we were going to get when these fellows were looking for votes. No, were were told that when Roosevelt got in he would get this hoarded money back in the banks and money would not be so hard to get.

Why doesn't he do just that and the government get out of the wheat market? We have had all that in the last five years. Now we have Henry that we pay a good big price to tell us to cut down on the acres in cultivation. We have a bunch of men at Manhattan that tell us how to grow two bushels where we grew one. Then we have the county agent that tells us how to get more litters of pigs from sows.

It looks like God helps the rich and the poor can beg. Send Henry home. There is no surplus of wheat and never was. I have lived in Jewell county 49 years and in that time there has been very little surplus.

J. G. BREWER.

Out of Politics.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 8.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Once again our city government brings Lincoln unfavorable publicity—a more unpropitious time than fair week could scarcely be chosen. We are fortunate that the shadow of an epidemic does not hover over us and it behooves all of us to look toward the future so as to avoid a repetition.

In the first place, conflict between the city council and the sanitary board as well as neglect of both bodies, allowed the main intercepting sewer of Lincoln to be washed out and millions of gallons a day of raw sewage to be dumped into Salt creek. In the second place our Ashland water main is run under this sewage carrying stream instead of being carred above it.

At this critical time our city water developed a black mud, apparently coming from an outside source. Instead of immediately falling back on local wells and issuing a warning to boil water, as any superintendent of water should have the courage to do when any question as to the purity of city water arose, almost three days elapsed before it was done.

From the meagre and scanty reports released to the public it looks as if general turmoil developed inside the department with no competent directing head. Furthermore, with an adequate supply of clean water available, the superintendent of water attempted to force dirty and questionable water on our citizens and Fair visitors. Then his next move was to issue a report that there was a possibility of a break under Salt creek which unduly alarmed the community that had been drinking the water for three days. A further development was the division of responsibility between the engineering department in the mayor's kingdom and the employes of the water kingdom which might have developed into another "buck passing "contest had anything serious developed.

Without going into further unfavorable details it certainly appears that the inhabitants of Lincoln are not safe as long as the water and light department remains a political plum with a strong possibility of a change of management every two years. Nether will any suitable candidate offer himself for that $2,000 a year position because of the large amount of technical work and responsibility, especially when his assistants are paid much more. Furthermore no superintendent of water and light should be forced to

CONTRACT BRIDGE

How to Play AND How to Win

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

THE NEED OF ENTRIES.

Most bridge players realize that it is often a matter of vital importance which of the two hands becomes the closed hand because of the fact that at one declaration one of the hands may be void of entries and thus cannot be utilized by the partnership, while the other, regardless of the declaration, has a wealth of entries and established cards, upon which losers in the other hand may be discarded.

An interesting example of this situation occurred in the contract championship team-of-four match played at the American Whist league annual congress at Hanover, N. H., recently. The hand was:

West, dealer.
East and west vulnerable.

North:
♠ 9 4
♡ K Q J 5 4 3
◇ J 10 2
♣ K 4

West:
♠ K J 10 7 6 3 2
♡ 8
◇ Q 7 3
♣ 9 5

East:
♠ A
♡ A 9
◇ A 9 6 4
♣ A Q J 8 7 6

South:
♠ Q 8 5
♡ 10 7 6 2
◇ K 8 5
♣ 10 3 2

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	3 ♡ (1)	Double (2)	4 ♡ (3)
4 ♠ (4)	Pass	5 ♣ (5)	Pass
5 ♠ (6)	Pass	6 ♠ (7)	Pass
Pass	Pass

(1) This bid is designed as a semi-preemptive bid to prevent a vulnerable opponent with a passing partner from entering the contracting.

(2) East refuses to be shut out.

(3) South seconds north's effort to "steal the contract." As a matter of fact, if doubled at this contract, north and south have achieved a real victory.

(4) This gives a very fair picture of west's hand. He must have a long suit, indeed, to justify the bid of four.

(5) East offers an alternative road to game.

(6) West still believes that his hand should play the contract. East, on the bidding, is marked with at least one honor in spades; otherwise he would not continue in the face of the adverse bidding beyond the game limit.

(7) East decodes the message and decides that his singleton spade is a very important card. He therefore bids for the slam.

Against the heart opening the hand, of course, is made easily. However, north, for some reason decided not to open a heart, but chose instead to lead the only unbid suit—namely, diamonds. Obviously, should west now finesse, his contract must be defeated. However, he decided upon another line of play. He won the trick with the ace, laid down the ace of spades, then followed with the ace of hearts and ruffed a small heart in the closed hand. The king of spades was then led, followed by a finesse in clubs.

Fortunately for the declarer, it was one of those hands where everything went. Not only did the finesse hold, but the king dropped on the next round, and south, who held the third club and the remaining trump, was forced to follow helplessly, while west discarded one of his losing diamonds. South ruffed the fourth club, but it was too late as west then discarded his remaining diamond loser, thus making his slam contract.

As the cards actually lie, a slam can also be made in clubs because of the fortunate position of the honors in the diamond suit. It will be noticed that although east holds a count of 150 for honors in notrump, neither east nor west bid notrump at any stage of the contracting.

Today's Question.

The bidding:

South	North
1 ◇	2 ♣
2 ♡	2 NT
3 ♡	4 ♡
Pass

How many diamonds and hearts are in the south hand?

Answer: South has six diamonds and five hearts. The fact that south rebid the heart suit shows that that suit must be five cards in length, as otherwise it could not have been rebid; and the diamond suit must be longer than the heart suit or it would not have been bid first.

Cuba's New President
Showy, Futile Battleships
We Need More Money
Hearing by Finger Tips

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Cuba has a new president, sworn in Sunday. A professor of the University of Havana named Ramon Grau San Martin. Washington would have preferred the return of the quickly deposed President De Cespedes, but hopes Professor Grau San Martin will be a success and that anything in the way of intervention by the United States will be unnecessary.

Meanwhile our warships are still in Cuban waters. The latest to arrive being our impressive battleship Mississippi with heavy guns, tall turrets and big crew.

These ships seem important, when you are only warning a much smaller power that you may possibly do something. But the sending of ships is exactly what this country would not do if it were a real war. In a real war even a little country, possessing three or four submarines and a few airplanes could send those ships of ours to the bottom sunk by bombs from above and torpedoes from below.

It is almost unbelievable that this nation at the moment should be spending seventy million dollars of public money renovating battleships that would have to be hidden away if real war came.

Mr Wallace, secretary of agriculture says:

'Farmers are likely to get impatient within the next three months and demand a strong dose of inflation." This demand he says will be based on the disparity between a farmer's income and what he has to pay at the store for the things he buys.

People are beginning to wonder what idea if any the government had in mind when it took the United States off the gold basis knocking down the purchasing power of the dollar and doing nothing to make dollars more plentiful on the contrary, doing many things to make them less plentiful.

If the 'teletactor" latest production of science, is a success, those now deaf may hear through the nerves in the tops of their fingers. Those nerves, as everybody knows by experience are intensely sensitive and with the aid of the new machine, they might be used as "substitute ears. Amplification by the teletactor of variations of sound it is hoped will enable those totally deaf to hear again. It is still a matter of experiment. The amplifying apparatus of the teletactor 'has increased the upper limit of sound frequencies from 2-700 to 8 192 double vibrations a second.

In Mexico, Colonel Adalberto Tejeda who will run for president in the next election, if elected would "place under state control all railways, transport companies and hydro-electric plants and all means of communication." He would also "immediately recognize all the workers' associations as state institutions. Once, such talk would have made this conservative nation shudder, but not since NRA.

EIGHT DAKOTA INDIANS DROWN

Cloudburst Sends Huge Torrent Through Reservation.

Colorado Floods Cause Two Drownings Near Denver.

FORT THOMPSON, S D, Sept 11—(AP)—A cloudburst that swelled tiny creeks into raging streams, took eight lives and caused heavy damage on the Crow creek Indian reservation.

Members of two Indian families, trapped by the onrushing waters as they slept yesterday were drowned. Fifteen other persons were marooned in precarious places of safety for some time before they were rescued.

A downpour of rain that measured ten inches sent a 12-foot wall of water raging down Soldier's creek. It crushed the Fred Loudner home and Loudner, aged 41, his wife 37 their four children, ranging in age from 3 to 17 years and Mr and Mrs Sol Laplante of Rosebud were swept away in wreckage. The Laplantes were guests of the Loudners.

Seeking Bodies.

Indians from the reservation today searched the lowlands as the waters receded for the bodies of Laplante Loudner and the youngest Loudner child. They were believed to have been carried into the Missouri River. The bodies of the other victims were recovered.

Several other creeks also were swollen bythe heavy rains, and the Missouri river at Chamberlain, 20 miles from here, rose five feet the sharpest rise from rain in 20 years. Many head of cattle and horses perished in the flood.

Two Drowned Near Denver.

DENVER Sept 11—(AP)—Receding flood waters in six streams of the Denver area left a toll of two dead today possibly three missing and property damage which authorities said will reach close to $1 000 000.

Mrs Elizabeth James, 86 and her 9 year old grandson, Benny James, were drowed.

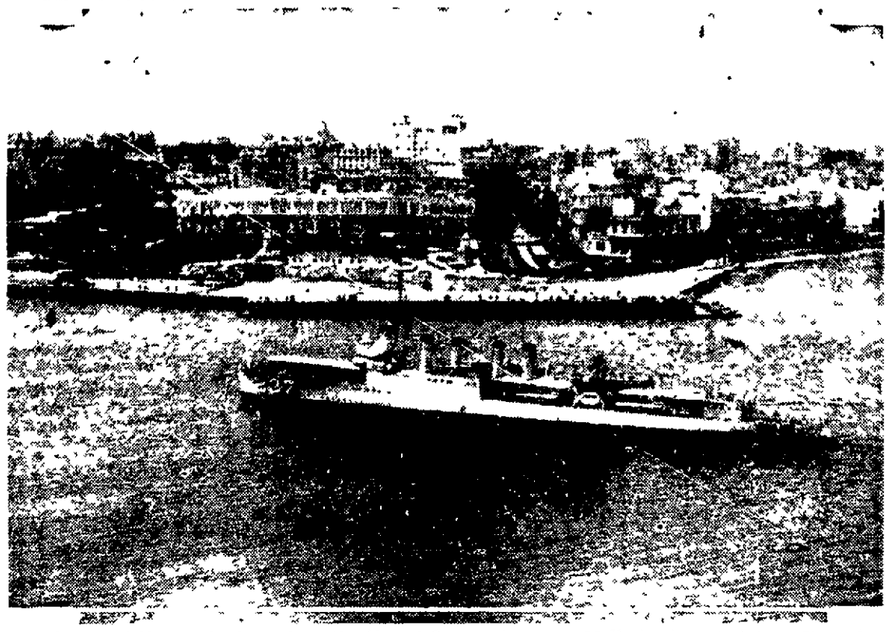

Two boys, unidentified, were reported to have been in a car which skidded from a highway into the Platte river. Authorities believed the report erreroneous. A farmer was reported drowned south of Littleton but this also was unsubstantiated.

Denver and Englewood Idledale and Morrison on Bear creek, Littleton on the Platte river and Welby northwest of Denver on the Platte, suffered flood damage.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal, Sept 11—(AP)—Three young men who took off in an airplane without waiting for the pilot were killed 20 minutes later when the plane crashed from an altitude of 500 feet.

'Aimee is a most amazing woman for having built up such an organization,' said Miss Guinan.

Slump In Income Taxes Is Offset By Excise Levies

WASHINGTON, Sept 11—(AP)—An increase in miscellaneous taxes offset a decline in income levies to put internal revenue collections for the 1933 fiscal year $62,110 181 above those of 1932.

Treasury figures today put the 1933 total at $1 619 839 224. This sum included $746 791 404, or $309 - 965 293 less than 1932 income taxes payments and $873 047 320, or an increase of $372 075 475 in miscellaneous collections.

Only the last two of the 1933 income tax quarterly payments were made on the basis of the 1932 boost in rates.

First Lincoln Police Radio Broadcast Gets Quick Accident Report

The first radio order communicated to Lincoln police was transmitted over their own station, KGZU, Sunday evening when officers cruising on South Fourteenth street were directed to report an accident at the intersection of Eleventh and A streets.

Within three minutes after the call had been broadcast by Officer Robert Britton officers in the cruiser reported from St Elizabeth's hospital by telephone that 7-year-old Gerald Klippert, 716 C street had been struck by a car but was not seriously hurt.

According to the detailed report of the accident A Byron 1519 Washington street was driving north on Eleventh when the Klippert boy, who was running west across the street, fell in front of his car near the intersection of A street. By the time Mr Byron stopped his car, the boy had jumped up and was running again. Mr. Byron took the lad to the hospital, where he was examined and later released to his parents, Mr and Mrs Conrad Klippert. The boy was bruised about the head and leg.

Officers in the police cruiser receiving the test call were Chief of Police W C Condit Captain Rowden, Detective Hartman and Officer Maasdam. They were driving on South Fourteenth street when the call was received.

Daredevil Dies In Leap From George Washington Bridge

NEW YORK Sept. 11—(AP)—The Hudson river was searched today for Dan Carone, who died in a stunt leap from the George Washington bridge.

Carone, a beer parlor owner in Mt Vernon, N Y., by profession and a daredevil by choice, stripped off his clothes yesterday on the great span, 250 feet above the water. He tossed his clothes gaily down toward friends waiting in a boat, and, clad in a bathing suit, jumped.

His body shot down head foremost. Then it somersaulted and he struck the water flat on his back. Observers believe his spine was broken.

He had previously made leaps from Brooklyn bridge and London bridge—just for fun.

Al Smith Says Nazi Rule in Germany Is Completely Stupid

NEW YORK, Sept 11—(AP)—Alfred E Smith says the Nazi regime in Germany is completely stupid. Speaking last night to a gathering of Jews and Christians he said:

"No nation can stand to live under ridicule. The present German regime is not only ridiculous, but perfectly stupid.

"Now if this was a movement to remove from Germany any one who criticized the government that would be one thing. But it is directed against a complete people.

"As Bainbridge Colby has said, the Jews can stand it. Certainly, but civilization can't stand it. Above all else, Germany can't stand it."

Bountiful Crops Expected to Meet Needs of Russia

ROSTOV-ON-DON U S S R, Sept 11—(AP)—Indications were seen today that a bountiful crop this year will be more than enough to meet the nation's needs and to wipe out the want suffered last winter and spring.

An Associated Press correspondent traveling without official supervision through the Ukraine and North Caucasus found that at railway stations peasants offered travelers large quantities of foodstuffs at low prices.

Everywhere the peasants' opinion seemed to be 'maybe had a bad weather but the new crops pulled us through.'

Cities Attack On Aged.

Dr Neal commented today on the fact that disease here has most heavily affected older persons, while in previous epidemics studied, about half the deaths were of children under 15 she said.

This is the first summer epidemic of encephalitis in this country according to Dr Neil's records.

As St Louis battled with the dread and mysterious disease, St Joseph a smaller Missouri city reported encephalitis had reached epidemic proportions there. Eight deaths have been reported eleven have been pronounced cured and the others are confined to their homes or in city isolation hospitals.

2,363 Gangsters Listed by U. S.

WASHINGTON Sept 11—(AP)—The justice department is adding daily to a special fingerprint file 'of known gangsters, kidnapers and extortionists."

From its beginning a few months ago with the government's anti-crime drive the file today had grown to include the prints of 2 363 individuals. These were apart from the prints of 3 870 910 individuals in the main fingerprint collection which increases at an average of 2 200 a day.

The "gangster" file is specially classified for quick checks of impressions left on the scene of a crime which have to be treated chemically before becoming obvious.

Mercury Soars To 98 Here; Corn Matures Rapidly

Climaxing a week of 90 degree or better temperatures the mercury rose to 98 here Sunday afternoon for the highest mark reached this month. Dropping slowly to 80 at midnight, the mercury touched 69 at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Corn advanced rapidly toward maturity under the blistering sun, which proved once more that Nebraska Septembers can be extremely uncomfortable. While Sunday's high of 98 drove people to swimming pools and country places in search of relief, it was far below the all time September record of 106 degrees, set in 1922.

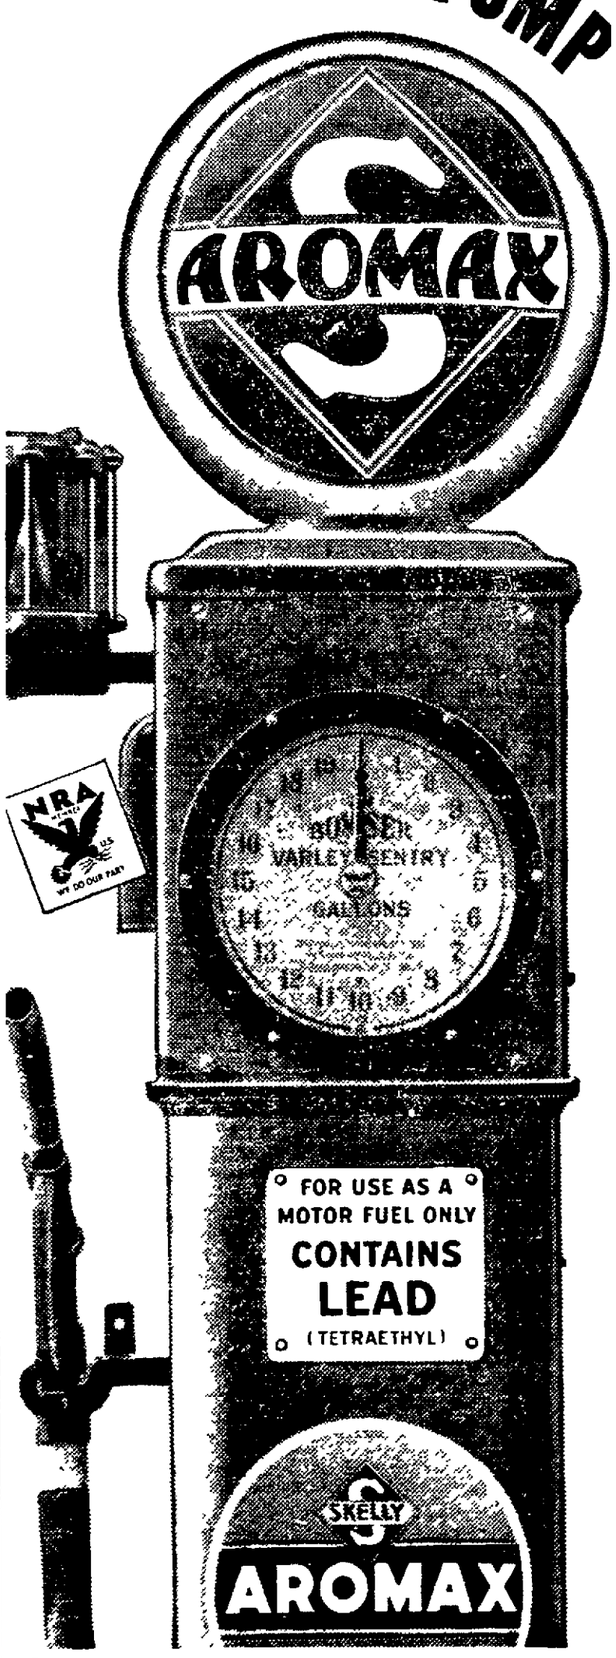

Prospects for immediate relief were lacking in weather bureau predictions. Warmer temperatures in the northwest and unsettled elsewhere is predicted.

Cornhuskers Assemble for First Grid Drill

Half Hundred Turn Out for Practice at University Stadium

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers were about their work bright and early Monday morning, a squad of more than 60 varsity aspirants reporting to Head Coach Dana X. Bible for the first practice of the 1933 football season. The Monday drill was preceded by a Sunday afternoon conference, at which time the Husker candidates checked out equipment and listened to Bible and his staff of assistants outline their plans for the coming campaign.

Texas Game First.

With the opening game with Texas U. nearly a month away, one of Bible's chief worries at present is the weather, the thermometer reading being baseball temperature rather than football. In an effort to dodge the heat wave, the Nebraska candidates were on the stadium field Monday morning at 8:30 and in the afternoon reported at 1 o'clock, the latter period being turned over to the photographers.

Picking up the practice schedule where they left off last spring, the Nebraska gridders turned their attention Monday to the kicking department of the game. A dozen punters were in action, while the ends and backs were chasing down under the kicks and linemen and blockers were given first-hand instruction in affording the proper protection to the punters.

Scale readings on the candidates Sunday confirmed the advance report the 1933 Nebraska squad would be lighter than the 1932 aggregation and that only at the tackle stations would this year's outfit be heavier than the last year team.

Scond Edition of Primo.

John Russell Thompson, the man-mountain from Whitney, is the big boy of the line. Thompson, who stands 6 feet 5 3-4 inches in height, weighed in Sunday at 234 pounds. Walt Pflum, Imperial, measured 6 feet 1 inch in height and smasher the beam at 223 pounds, and Gail O'Brien, veteran and six-footer, posted 208 pounds.

Head Coach Bible declared Monday he was well pleased with the physical condition of the candidates and the attitude shown at the Sunday conference.

"The boys apparently are back in good shape and in the right frame of mind to get down to serious business. They want to play football and their enthusiasm indicates an intention to go places this fall," was Bible's comment.

Attendance at the Monday drills was nearly 100 per cent. Among the missing, however, were Ralph Eldridge and Fred Overstreet, backs who plan to return next season; Elmer Hubka, guard who is expected to put in an appearance this week; Fred Murray, back, and Burt Durkee, end, who may return this season. The Monday roster included:

Smock, who was visiting relatives in Wolbach, read about the Nebraska shoot and then motored to Lincoln to compete in the meet. He led in the Sunday competition until the last squad finished firing.

In getting his 93 targets, Dygert chalked up two perfect frames, shooting 50 straight. Smock and Charley Koontz, Lincoln Shrine golf pro, joined the ranks of the 15 shooters with their first perfect frames. Smock got his first 25 targets and Koontz's string came in the third event.

J. BULL SITS ON TENNIS THRONE

Perry of Great Britain Turns Back Crawford In Singles Finals.

BY MICHAEL J. FOSTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(INS)—The union jack of England, after a lapse of 20 years, waved supreme in the tennis world again today.

Fred Perry, who pulled his country through to victory in the Davis cup team competition, made it a grand slam for John Bull when he added the United States singles laurels to his list of prizes, conquering Jack Crawford in a five-set final at Forest Hills, to give the national championship its second English winner in 52 years of play.

World's Best Just Now.

Not since the Doherty brothers were mopping up on the courts a generation ago has England been tops in tennis circles. John Bull came back with a vengeance, however, and, judging by the form displayed by Perry at Forest Hills, England is going to make tough beating when it defends its Davis cup laurels next July.

There are those who will dispute the new United States titleholder's right to world singles laurels, pointing to his failure at Wimbledon and to his earlier defeat by Crawford in the Anglo-Australian Davis cup tie. But a large majority of the 9,000 fans who watched him register his 6-4, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1 triumpn over the husky Australian are willing to concede him the No. 1 post in the world ranking.

Expert opinion in the past has been that Perry was a great player, but not a real champion, not a top-notcher who could go through a tough tournament and play championship tennis every day. They were right in the past, but it was a new Perry who crushed Crawford in the last two sets of their match —a Perry who may not rate with the Cochets and Tildens, but who is certainly the leading tennis player in the world right now.

Uncle Sam Has Off Year.

For the United States, Perry's victory brought to a close one of the most disappointing seasons in the history of the game in this country. Starting the year with high hopes of recapturing the Davis cup from France, America not only did not reach the challenge round in the international team competition but saw itself shut out of the finals in its own championship as well.

Vines' and Allison's collapse at Auteuil were sad blows to American tennis pride; the failure of these same two veterans, along with the utter routing of Frank Shields and Lester Stoefen at Forest Hills came as an even greater shock.

Tennis fans are no longer optimistic. England has demonstrated that it will be well able to defend the holy grail of tennisdom next year.

NEW GRID RULE HAS POP'S OKAY

Nestor of Coaches Gives Ten-Yard Statute His Approval.

BY FRANK O'NEILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(INS)—Glenn S. Warner, head coach at Temple university in Philadelphia, today hailed the new rule placing a ball 10 yards in from the side lines in the event that it has been carried or kicked to within that distance of the border of the field. The former master of Carlisle Indian school, Pittsburgh and Stanford said it was the first break the attack has had since the introduction of the forward pass.

The definition of clipping, broadened to include any running into the back of a passer or any other player not carrying the ball, will not have a great deal of influence on play, Warner thinks.

"I think that carrying the ball in 10 yards from the side lines will add interest and variety to the game this fall," said Warner, following an exhibition of rules put on by Columbia here Saturday. "It is one of the few breaks the attack has had since 1906, when the forward pass was introduced.

"By limiting the attack in football, the rule makers took something out of the game. I have always endeavored to create interesting and sound methods of offense in football. I love to see interesting styles of attack, and I believe that all lovers of sport share with me in this."

A consensus of coaches observing the demonstration of the new rules given by the Columbia squad was that while everything shown was rudimentary and should be known by every football coach, football would be benefited by holding similar demonstrations throughout the country, inviting the public.

Public Should Sit In.

"Instructing the public in the niceties of the new rules is a form of salesmanship," said Lou Little, coach of Columbia. "It is one thing for coaches to attend these demonstrations, but the public should be invited to similar days throughout the country."

None of the coaches are willing to go into a discussion of the statement made by Dr. Marvin A. Stevens of Yale on the probable number of fatalities in football this coming season. One and all agreed that a rugged game like football always will be hazardous, but fought shy of discussing the points he stressed. All said that every precaution would be used to prevent accident or death.

Touchdown Secrets

Newman Tosses Long Michigan Pass.

By JOE GLASS.

Sometimes when one Michigan end is crossing over to receive a pass, the other end will cross into defensive territory on the opposite side, not merely to act as a decoy, but to block out the deep defensive back there.

Such a pass is diagrammed above. It brought a touchdown against Ohio State last fall.

The ball went back direct to 4 on a kick formation. Both Michigan ends went down fast, right end (5) making directly at the deep left defensive back and left end (10) crossing diagonally in the same direction. Back 1 went out to the right as a decoy and Back 3 did the same thing on the left. Blocking was executed as shown in the diagram.

No. 3's threat drew the right defensive backs out of position. In the meantime, No. 5 (right end, Williamson) followed up his preliminary dash straight down the field, by turning left and running out back of everyone. Newman (4) made a 25-yard pass to him which he caught in the open. Touchdown.

Tomorrow, a Michigan play through the line.

CUBS BOB UP AS PENNANT THREAT

'Big Time' Ball Tossers Figure Chicago Still In the Running.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(INS)—Baseball players think the Chicago Cubs are going to win the National league pennant. These gents, who never stop to figure out anything, just letting things take their course, like a man stepping on a banana peel, don't know why they have such a fine opinion of the Chicagoans, but they imagine them in a last-minute pennant drive that will end with the New York Giants inside, looking out from second place.

Driven into a corner and clubbed into submission, these heroes of the diamond admit they are impressed by the Cub's pitchers, Warneke, Root and Tinning and they think Catcher Gabby Hartnett is liable to break up anybody's ball game is unexpectedly as the arrival of a process server.

New Cub Socks Homer.

Mr. Tinning had one of his better days Sunday and the Cubs observed Dolph Camilli day as they revived their hopes of another pennant. Tinning held the Phillies to six hits and the Burins annexed a 4 to 0 shutout in the opener. In the nightcap, Dolph Camilli, first baseman up from Sacramento of the Coast league, hit a homer off John Berly, breaking up a 2 to 2 tie in the sixth inning and giving Chicago a 4 to 2 success.

The double win put the Cubs in the second position, in place of the fading Pittsburgh Pirates, but the Giants maintained a seven and a half game lead as they subdued the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1. Carl Hubbell, ace of the New Yorkers, came to the rescue of Fred Fitzsimmons when the Reds threatened in the opener's seventh inning and retired the last nine of the enemy to win, 6 to 1.

Braves Drop Twin Bill.

Fred Frankhouse failed as iron-man for the Boston Braves. He was bad in the first game, with Bill Hallahan holding the Braves to four hits, when St. Louis won, 7 to 0, and he hadn't improved a bit in the finale when he was called to relieve Smith, the Cardinals shelling him again to roll it away, 10 to 5.

Pitcher Bill Swift was lucky in winning for Pittsburgh, 2 to 1, on two unearned runs contributed by Brooklyn, but fate made it even in the second tilt when the Bucs handed the Dodgers a pair of tallies and a 3 to 2 triumph.

Yanks Pick On Tigers.

Not that it made any difference, the New York Yankees reduced the lead of Washington in the American league by beating Detroit twice, 2 to 1 and 9 to 1. Vernon Gomez scored a lucky win over Carl Fisher.

Friends from Lynn, Mass., his home town, gave Bump Hadley a nice wrist watch and there was nothing Bump could do but show he was good. So he held the Boston Red Sox to five hits to give St. Louis a 3 to 2 victory. Johnny Welch walked his hurling enemy, George Blaeholder, after 10 thrilling innings of scoreless baseball, and when the eleventh inning was finished Welch had gone the way of all flesh, the Browns scoring four runs to make it, St. Louis 4, Boston 0.

SUPER RASSLER BOOKED AT 4-H

Jim Browning Dated to Take On Glenn Wade in Mat Grapple Tonight.

TONIGHT'S MAT CARD.

One-fall preliminary, 30-minute limit—Gorilla Tucker Texas vs. Johnny Krieger, Lincoln, middleweights.

Semi-windup two-out-of-three—Pat McGill, Wisner, Neb., vs. Bob Kruse, Boston, heavyweights.

Main event two-out-of-three — Jim Browning, world's heavyweight champion, vs. Glenn Wade, Los Angeles.

First bout at 8:30.

The rasslers will be holding forth again tonight at the state fair grounds 4-H arena, the program listing a super attraction in that one of the performers in the main event of the card is the recognized world champion heavyweight in the three states in which the grappling game has its greatest vogue.

Big Jim Browning, former Drury college grid giant and a product of Missouri, is to square off against Glenn Wade, ex-Nebraska husky who is now a resident of California.

As Wade makes the scales groan at 220 pounds, the bout provokes speculation as to the ability of Browning to make use of his pet turn-over scissors on so sturdy a foe.

Prize Card In New York.

Browning's rise to the championship has been spectacular and in New York City, where he captured the title by defeats of Strangler Lewis and Joe Savoldi, he is rated as the prize drawing card of all the heavyweights.

Johnny Krieger of Lincoln, and Gorilla Tucker, tough middleweight from Texas, will open the entertainment in a 30-minute time limit match, after which Pat McGill, Nebraska heavyweight, and Bob Kruse from Boston, will tangle in the semi-windup.

Fathers and Sons In Horseshoe Tourney

A "father and son" horseshoe tournament picnic is planned for Sunday, October 1, at Pioneer park. Walt Abker is in charge of the event and plans calls for a noon picnic luncheon, with the horseshoe play opening at 2 o'clock.

Field Figures Omaha Pride Is Man They Must Beat at 'Cincy'

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 11 — (INS) — In the almost breathless hush of an early September morn, strangely at variance with the bluster and excitement to come, the thirty-seventh annual amateur golf championship of the United States will break from the post today and set out for its goal, six days hence. So much for the start. The end will come swiftly enough, within six days, in fact, as the calendar counts. Still days can be years when measured by distress and heartbreak. But that's golf.

Two Days of Qualifying.

Today the field is 153 men, the finest in the land. By Wednesday, they'll be 32. By Saturday morning, two. By Saturday night, one. The latter will be the extraordinary individual who can out-live the 18-hole qualifying rounds today and tomorrow; two sudden death" rounds of 18 holes each on Wednesday, morning and afternoon And the wearing, tearing grind of a day-to-day competition that only a national championship can furnish.

C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., was the man who survived to the ultimate honor last year, beating Johnny Goodman of Omaha with a rush through the closing holes of the final round. But this rich young Canadian with a countenance folded into the drooping lines of melancholy of a well bred mastiff, does not claim the undivided attention that usually is a champion's own, although an attempt has been made to represent this inoffensive but talented young man as a foreign menace.

Mr. Goodman Chief Menace.

Unfortunately, the average Canadian is about as foreign as a man from Kalamazoo and menace is something that Mr. C. Ross Somerville simply does not plan to exude.

Most of this, in fact, is bottled up under the blond thatch of Mr. Goodman, who won the national open championship from the greatest of all professionals at North Shore only a few months ago and is now trying to two-time the boys. Not many amateurs have been able to do that and all of them have been hallowed figures whose lustre has survived the years—Robert T. Jones, for one; Chick Evans, for another.

Mr. Jones, having retired to a life of ease and refinement, will not be present at the first tee, but Mr. Evans will be one of five former champions who are seeking another title in this tournament, the others being Jesse Guilford, Jesse Sweetser, Max Marston and Chandler Egan. The latter won his championships in 1904 and 1905 and has been around so long that he must be older than Judge Landis. Anyhow, Sweetser is the only ex-champion with more than a tacit chance of repeating here. They say he has been training secretly and is prepared to run a "sleeper" on the boys.

John's Chances Not So Good.

As to that, I just wouldn't know, my information being limited to things that everybody is aware of, including the fact that, if "sleepers" are being run by any of the sterling youths, the bell is ringing right now and it's time to wake up. If they don't, they can go to sleep back in Walla Walla, starting with the qualifying deadline tomorrow night.

Although strictly off his record, Goodman is the current laird of the links, it is not altogether improbable that, for purposes of this tournament, he will finish somewhere down along the left field foul line. For one thing, he has been hovering around the intermediate seventies in most of the practice rounds he has had at Kenwood. For another, the course is known as a "tee shot links" and placed no particular premium on the deft irons that feature John's play. In fact, the average green here is open like the front of a meat market.

There have been unconcealed criticisms of the course, indeed, the claim being made that the traps are not what they might be and the fairways are not what they were. The traps are bedded with hard gravel, instead of sand, and the run-up recovery is bound to be a conspicuous feature of the week.

Still, everything ought to be even, including the weather. The forecast was for clear skies and warm temperatures today and tomorrow.

That Big Parade.

Outside of Somerville, the champion, and Goodman, the heir-apparent, any one of 30 starters can win this championship without inciting a congressional inquiry. Some of the feature pairs today are Gus Moreland, Texas, and Pat Sawyer, Minneapolis, at 8:45; Charley Kocsis, Detroit, and Bob Servis, Dayton, at 9:05; Johnny Fischer, medalist and last year's semi-finalist, and Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, 9:20; Somerville and Sweetser, 9:35; Willie Turnesa and Scotty Campbell, Seattle, 10:10; Egan and Ira Crouch, Chicago, 10:30; Evans and Leonard Martin, New York, 10:50; Gilford and Captain E. F. Carter, New York, 12:45; Goodman and Charley Seaver, Los Angeles, 1:20, and Lawson Little, San Francisco, and George Dunlap, New York, 1:30.

In addition, there is Perry Hall, Maurice McCarthy, John E. Parker, Jack Cummins, George Voigt, Robert M. Grant, Tommy Goodwin, Gene Homans, Frank Dolp, Rodney Bliss, Charley Yates, Sammy Perry and Sid Noyes.

However, all is not attar of roses, even at this premature date. Fischer, for instance, is understood to have a lame back and Moreland is ill and under weight. And, as for other things, the course is said to be considerably under the purported length of 6,780 yards and the advance sale of tickets even farther than that under the announced total of $8,000.

However, what's a few figures among friends?

Mary Nolan Reveals Divorce; Will Try Comeback on Screen

LYNN Mass., Sept. 11—(AP)—Her marriage behind her, the blonde Mary Nolan is bent once again on a career on screen and stage.

A Connecticut divorce ended her marriage to Wallace McCreery eight months ago, she said today.

"I am free of romance now; free of any thought of marriage," she said. "I have only one objectivet to win back my place in my profession."

As Imogene Wilson she was a popular beauty of the Follies. Later, in Germany, she became prominent in the silent pictures and returning to America became a featured performer under the name Mary Nolan.

Miss Nolan, who is appearing at a Lynn theater, said she is under contract to resume work in Hollywood in November.

FARMERS HOLIDAY PICNIC, COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 11—(AP)—Several thousand persons attended a public picnic here yesterday, sponsored by seven mid-Nebraska county Farmers' Holiday associations. Counties represented were Platte, Madison, Stanton, Colfax, Polk, Butler and Saunders. Fred Adkisson of Polk county presided during the speaking, when Congressman Edgar Howard of Columbus, C. J. Christensen of Newman Grove, and several others spoke. Howard urged support of President Roosevelt, but others believed cooperation in the holiday movement would be of greater benefit to the farmer.

FEDERAL TAXES SHOW INCREASE

Internal Revenue From Nebraska Over Three Millions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP)—Nebraska's payments to Uncle Sam in the form of internal revenue increased 22 per cent in the fiscal year 1933 over 1932, despite a drop of 22 per cent in receipts from corporation and individual income taxes.

The state's total contribution was $3,863,482 in the year ended June 30, reports the internal revenue bureau, miscellaneous taxes making up for the steep decline in income tax receipts

Income taxes yielded $2,357,136, remaining the largest single source of federal revenue.

Manufacturers' excise taxes brought $338 278, while a 2-cent tax on checks yielded $511,780. Stamp taxes, covering bonds, stocks, passage tickets and similar papers, netted $60,165.

Beer taxes totaling $23,382 poured into the treasury in the brief period after legalization.

Theater goers added $50,358 in ticket taxes, while tobacco in its varied forms accounted for nearly $9,000 The sale of oleomargarine netted $15,729, most of which was paid by retailers of uncolored brands. Practitioners, dealers and manufacturers of narcotics in Nebraska paid taxes totaling $5,121.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS from Washington

Q. When did marionette shows originate?

A. They woen known to the Greeks and Romans. Figures with movable limbs have been found in the tombs of ancient Egypt and Etruria, though many of these were probably children's dolls and afford little evidence of a puppet drama, the earliest development of which was in India.

Q. Was Arthur Brisbane born in the United States?

A He was born in Buffalo, N. Y, December 12, 1864

Q. How can rats gnaw through hard wood and lead pipes?

A. Rodents usually have two front teeth or incisors in each jaw, separated by a considerable vacant interval from the molars These are very large, reach far back into the skull, and continue to grow as fast as their tips or cutting edges are worn away They are coated on the front with hard enamel, and as the softer dentine of the remainder of the tooth wears away more rapidly the cusp of each tooth takes a chisel like edge and its sharpness is maintained.

Q. Has a temperature of absolute zero ever been attained?

A The nearest approach was made by Prof W. C Keesom at Leyden, the Netherlands, who succeeded in solidifying helium gas at 458 58 degrees below zero, F. or 32 degrees F above absolute zero.

Q Is Ruby Keeler the real name of the actress?

A. That was her real name before she married Al Jolson.

Stock Market Advances Sharply In Quiet Trading; Several Issues Reach New Highs For Year

Shares Gain 1 to 5 or More Points

Exchange Closes Strong; Offerings Scarce in All Departments.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Stock prices moved up sharply today in comparatively quiet trading and several issues reached new highs for the year. Professionals bid up the alcohols and other groups followed. The upturn was attributed partly to a renewal of inflationary psychology and to the fact that offerings were scarce in all departments. The close was strong with gains ranging from 1 to 5 or more points. Transfers approximated 1,900,000 shares.

The market idled until late afternoon when a brisk buying movement set in coincident with strength shown by wheat in Chicago. This staple finished around 3 cents a bushel higher and other grains were up a cent or more. Cotton was sympathetically firm and other commodities were moderately higher. Bonds improved, with secondary maturities inclined to follow stocks rather closely. The dollar displayed an irregularly lower trend in foreign exchange transactions.

The distillery equities reflected a revival of repeal sentiment with National Distillers getting up some 10 points. U. S. Industrial and American Commercial Alcohols about 6 each and Commercial Solvents more than 3. Issues up about 3 included Allied Chemical, Chrysler, Case, Columbian Carbon, Delaware & Hudson, Johns-Manville and U. S. Smelting. Among gainers of about 2 to 4 were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Cerro De Pasco, Western Union, Union Pacific, New York Central, DuPont and General Motors. Chrysler reached a new 1933 peak at 49⅞ and was one of the most active of the list.

Sleepy-time financial markets ambled along at a snail's pace today with only occasional moments of wakefulness to break the soporific monotony.

The undertone was firm, however. Some of the alcohols and other specialties improved substantially on small buying and the list, as a whole, was moderately higher. Grains and cotton showed signs of recovery, with wheat getting up a cent or more a bushel. Silver, rubber and sugar futures were a bit higher. European gold currencies and sterling rallied against the dollar although the price of bar gold at London was somewhat lower. Bonds were moderately irregular.

The alcohol shares reflected the revival of repeal sentiment with National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Schenley getting up 2 to around 4 or more points. Union Pacific came back 3, while Santa Fe, New York Central and Pennsylvania advanced about a point each. Others, up to 1 to 2 or more, included Johns-Manville, Montgomery Ward U. S. Smelting, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, Du Pont Loews, American Tobacco B, Public Service of New Jersey, United Aircraft, Western Union, Westinghouse and Cerro de Pasco.

While market observers were still waiting for "something to happen that might rejuvenate the list, the fact that the short interest has dwindled to around 900,000 shares compared with more than 1,400,000 on June 30, last, was a little disquieting to some. On the other hand, however, proponents of the advance point out that sentiment, while not over enthusiastic, is preponderantly bullish and that bearish operators for some time have been at a minimum.

All Grain Values At Chicago Higher

Inflation Talk Leads to Skyrocketing; Wheat 2⅞ to 3¾ Up.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11—(AP)—Widespread notice given to talk of likelihood soon of some form of currency inflation led to skyrocketing of all grain values today.

The inflation talk had its origin chiefly in remarks credited to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in which he was reported to have said the so-called commodity dollar appealed to administration officials a the best if not the only means of controlled inflation. One of today's buying of grain was also due to prospects the government crop figures this afternoon might make a bullish showing, especially as to corn.

Trading was the most active witnessed in weeks. Wheat made a maximum gain of 4⅛ cents, rye 4½ cents and corn 2⅞ cents. There was some talk toward the last about possibility of France going off the gold standard.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2⅞-3¼c above yesterday's finish, Sep. 84½c, Dec. 88-88¼c; corn, 1⅝-1⅝c up, Sep. 46¾c, Dec. 51⅞-52c; oats 1⅝-1⅝c advanced, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise in 10 cents.

Wheat prices record gains today after an irregular start. The upturns were attributed to speculative buying based on a statement of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace suggesting that there might be a strong dose of inflation within the next three months. Opening c off to ⅛c up, wheat later rose all around to well above Saturday's finish. Corn started at ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, and subsequently showed a general upturn.

Tending to facilitate wheat price advances were reports that Canadian threshing had been seriously delayed by rains all over south and central areas of the prairie provinces. Notice was also taken of advices of a series of proposed conferences to bring about subsidizing of Pacific coast wheat for disposal to China through government agencies. It was urged that such measures would distinctly change the domestic wheat marketing situation both in the southwest and on the Pacific coast.

Commission house purchasing that encountered no aggressive pressure from sellers lifted wheat soon to about 1½ cents a bushel above early low points. Helping further to strengthen prices of wheat as well as of other grains were reports that prevalent weather instead of hurrying corn to maturity was drying out stalks, in extreme cases destroying the value of corn as fodder. North Central Illinois corn in particular was reported as likely to be of shortened yield and chaffy. Prospective enlarged consumer demand for oats was also a bullish factor.

Provisions held about steady.

About midsession, wheat was 1¼@1⅜c above Saturday's finish, and corn was ½@⅝c up.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Dullness still prevailed in the curb market today, but prices had a firm undertone.

Activity was on virtually the same scale as last week during the greater part of the session. Traders took some interest in alcohol shares, doubtless because several states are voting on repeal this week, and both Hiram Walker and Distillers' Seagrams rallied more than a point.

A few oils an dmetals also improved, Humble and Males Consolidated each gaining moderately. Bunker Hill & Sullivan sagged in its first appearance of the day.

In utilities, Electric Bond & Share had a narrow market, but its trend was toward high levels. Specialties were somewhat mixed. Singer Manufacturing and Celluloid firmed about a point, but Safety Car was lower. Celluloid first preferred umped 10 points on an early transfer.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Narrowing yields on United States governments, as several issues advanced to new highs for the year, was the principal feature of the bond market today.

Corporate domestic issues moved an irregular groove which made little impression on the general price level while foreign loans displayed mixed tendencies.

While Liberties were neglected there was a good inquiry for the short term treasury issues and buyers were forced to bid at advances from 3-32nds to ¼ of a point. The new treasury 3¼s and treasury 3⅛s reached new 1933 highs.

Strength of British governments and weakness in the German Dawes and Young issues represented the two extremes in the foreign list. South American loans were heavy.

High grade railroad liens of an investment character showed a tendency to soften in light trading while issues in the lower priced category moved both ways. Atchison General 4s at one time yielded about ½ a point and Canadian Pacific 4s were slightly lower. Great Northern 4½s sold about two points lower. In the Utility group American Telephone bonds were steady and Postal Telegraph 5s benefitted from a good inquiry.

United States Rubber, Philadelphia and Reading C and I and Goodyear loans were firm spots in the industrial group.

FINAL EFFORT FOR SOFT COAL CODE LAUNCHED

Wagner Offers Help of Labor Board in Disputes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP)—Despite plans for delay from NRA's consumers advisory board, the retail code-covering more workers and more individual employers' establishments than any other trade compact—was being prepared today for presentation to Administrator Hugh S Johnson tonight or tomorrow, with the hope that President Roosevelt could sign it within a day or two.

While the muddle over the new bituminous coal code drafted by Johnson continued uncleared pending tomorrow's public hearing, Deputy Administrator Arthur D. Whiteside was finishing a report of the retail agreement which carries a requirement that prices be maintained at least 10 per cent more than the invoice cost of goods.

The consumers' board had asked that this provision be studied carefully because of possible consequences of such a price control policy, but Whiteside resolved not to delay the agreement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP)—President Roosevelt's recovery administration summoned every resource today for an effort Hugh S. Johnson hoped would bring soft coal operators unto agreement on an industrial code before the week is out.

The NRA chieftain called groups of operators to his office for new personal negotiations dealing with the long list of objections filed by bituminous coal employers to the charter drafted by Johnson with President Roosevelt's approval.

Wagner Offers Aid.

Many of these objections dealt with labor relations—a subject that yesterday drew from Senator Wagner of New York an appeal that employers and employes "forget all feuds" and "back the president's program by submitting their disputes to the national labor board" of which he is chairman.

In the minds of some coal men was the thought that Johnson eventually would have to impose a code because of an inability to harmonize the many conflicting views. But Johnson himself pressed relentlessly for a code by agreement.

"Statements offering objections, amendments, etc., were invited," he said in a statement last night.

"x x x x Conferences have been carried forward on the basis of the substance of these suggestions with most of the parties at interest in the code and negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the Appalachia noperators have been practically uninterrupted.

Johnson Confident.

"From the co-operative, conciliatory and reasonable attitude now governing both sets of negotiations, I feel justified in saying that my confidence in our ability to get a proper agreed code and a satisfactory settlement has not been shaken."

Wagner's statement told employers and employes that the keystone of the blue eagle program "is good will and united effort and the desire to open and keep open as many factories as possible." But before bringing labor differences to the national board, Wagner said both sides should seek to work out their problems.

"Employers," he said, "must not take unfair advantage of the government's 'no strike policy' by refusing the just demands of workers or by non-recognition of the right to organize, a right unequivocably granted by the recovery act."

Ford Returns to Detroit; Stand on Code Unchanged

Motor Magnate Hides in Auto Trailer to Evade Newsmen.

DETROIT, Sept. 11—(AP)—Emphatic denial was made today at the offices of the Ford Motor Co., of the statement that Henry Ford had eluded observers at his Huron mountain vacation lodge Saturday by departing in a trailer, concealed by a canvas covering. The statement that Mr. Ford has used the trailer to escape would-be questioners was attributed to a fellow member of the Huron mountain club.

DETROIT, Sept. 11—(AP)—Henry Ford came back to his Dearborn offices today.

It was indicated at the Ford company plant here that the manufacturer has not changed his position regarding the NRA code, which, it was learned last week from an authoritative source, is that his signature to the code is unnecessary, as long as all the terms are complied with. Previously he declared that if his company signed the code, it would have to "live down to it."

Up in Big Bay, Mich., a member of the exclusive Huron mountain lodge, where Ford and his wife spent the past three weeks, said the motor magnate had "pulled a fast one" on questioners in departing on Saturday noon.

Ford, the member said concealed himself under a canvas covering in an automobile trailer attached to his automobile, and rode out of the camp gates and through Big Bay, six miles away, where several would be interviewers were stationed.

Apparently, he said, Ford did not emerge from under the canvas until his car passed Big Bay, despite the fact that the road to the section is extremedy rough in Places.

Maine, Dry for 75 Years, Votes Today on Repeal

Nation Watches Balloting to Wipe Out Prohibiton Laws.

(By the Associated Press)

Maine, dry for more than 75 years, drew the attention of the whole nation today as she balloted on the proposal to wipe prohibition from the national constitution.

Twenty-five other states had voted previously and all approved repeal. Tomorrow Colorado, Minnesota and Maryland will have their turn at the ballot boxes.

Thirty-six states must signify their approval before the Twenty-first amendment, which would nullify the Eighteenth, can become part of the constitution. At least 39 will have held their elections by Nov. 7.

Light Vote Expected.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11—(AP)—Maine's polling booths opened today for a vote on repeal of the Eighteenth amendment which most observers looked upon as a preliminary skirmish in a fight by repealists to wipe the state bone dry laws from the constitution.

Anti-repeal leaders were not hesitant in saying they saw a possible threat to the more than 75 years of state prohibition in the event Maine today should join the 25 other states which already have signified disapproval of the federal prohibitory laws.

Leaders of both factions expected comparatively light balloting.

While the state supreme court ruled the constitutional convention on repeal must be a deliberative body truly representative of the people, there was no assurance it necessarily would be representative of the people's will by today's vote.

Eighty delegates will be chosen from the 16 counties. Listed without designation as to their belief on repeal or retention, the names of 4 to 26 delegates appear alphabetically on the ballots of the various counties.

A majority in each county will decide whether wet or dry delegates will represent the county, but the possibility existed that by a close vote the state majority might be for repeal and the convention delegation of opposite tenet or vice versa.

PASTOR AND HIS WIFE ARE SLAIN

West Virginia Couple Is Found Beaten and Shot to Death.

RIPLEY, W. Va., Sept. 11—(AP)—Beaten and shot to death, the bodies of Rev. A. M. Eddy and his wife were found at Grace Fork today.

They were found by a neighbor who stumbled over Mrs. Eddy's body as he left his home. He followed a trail of blood to the Eddy house, where Mr. Eddy was found dead in bed.

Rev. Mr. Eddy, pastor of the Mt. Hope church of God, had been shot to death while sleeping. Indications were his wife was awakened by the shots and fled wounded from the house.

She had been pursued and shot again as she fled down the highway. Then, officers said, as they followed the trail of evidence, her assailant beat her over the head with a shotgun.

The weapon, shattered by repeated blows at Mrs. Eddy, was found beside her body.

Officers said the gun had been identified as one borrowed from a neighbor several weeks ago by the minister's son, Ralph, 16. Ralph could not be located nor could the Eddy automobile be found. They said Ralph is a son of Mr. Eddy's first wife.

A motive for the slayings was not apparent to officers who said the family attended church in a group last night and returned home immediately after the services.

A 3-year-old adopted boy sleeping in Mr. Eddy's bedroom was questioned, but his childish answers indicated he slept through the tragedy.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Queen Tut, an Indian elephant in the Fort Worth, Texas, zoo, lived around factory whistles so long that she finally became one herself—at least to the extent that she trumpets loud and long each morning promptly at 7 o'clock, again at noon, and again at 5:30 p. m., when it is time to quit work for the day.

Strange as it seems, Queen Tut rarely misses actual time by more than a minute. Mr. Hamilton Hittson, superintendent of the zoo, attributes Queen Tut's uncanny accuracy to the fact that the zoo is located in a factory district, and for 10 years she has listened to factory whistles three times daily, day after day. Employes at the zoo begin work each morning, and quit every night by Queen Tut's trumpet.

Proteins are made up of the various amino-acids (of which 20 are known) in varying amounts. The relative amounts and arrangement of the different amino-acids, according to bio-chemists, are responsible for the different properties of different proteins. By mathematical computation it is possible that 2,432,902,008,176,640,000 different proteins could exist, each containing all 20 of the amino-acids in different arrangements. By varying the amounts an endless number would be possible.

The HIDDEN DOOR

by FRANK L PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: After weeks of wandering about New York's underworld disguised as Clarkie Lunn, a crook, Colin Hewitt at last has come upon the trail of the Mask, his quarry. The Mask has threatened Colin's life; now Colin suddenly finds himself a member of one of the Mask's gangs. Benny Malone, in a room behind a little East Side tobacco shop, is instructing him in the layout. He will work under a man known as Buck, one of the Mask's lieutenants. Benny describes the "Wine Press," formerly a come-on joint for slumming parties, now being used as headquarters by the Mask, and tells of the owner of the Wine Press, Keppelstein.

Chapter 36.

PLEASANT PROSPECTS.

"If you saw anybody on the porch," said Benny Malone with a malicious grin, "it was old Keppelstein and nobody else, because he lives there all by his lonesome, and he's too much of a miser to let anyone else sit in one of his chairs without paying for it!"

Colin looked puzzled

"You dont mean that he's in on—"

"Him!" ejaculated Benny Malone. "Nix! He's as dirty a crook as there is in New York—but he ain't our kind of crook He'd slap a court order on your false teeth if you owed him money

"The only thing he's in on here is his rent—and he comes around to get it from Barney before breakfast the first of every month. He owns a lot of property and is worth a lot of money, but nobody ever knew him to blow any of it—even on himself!

"Some day, if he lives long enough, somebody'll bump him off I'd take the job on myself and enjoy it. He put a widow and three kids that lived in a tenement he owns in the next block out on the street in a hell of a storm a couple of days ago. What do you know about that? But," Benny Malone admitted grudgingly, "he makes a hot blind for us here just the same"

"I get you," laughed Colin. "Say, I feel like a kid at school putting his hand up. What else have I got to learn?

"How to get in and how to get out—and that you're never to come here unless you're sent for," returned Benny Malone "And get that last good and hard, Clarkie! This ain't any clubhouse, and there ain't any loafing done around here.

"Mr. and Mrs. Barney are supposed to be respectable See? Only the big shots like Buck O'Mara and Heimie Schwarm come here when they like, and sometimes when there's a big job on one or two of them sleep here—being the roomers I was telling you about that the Barneys sometimes take in "The rest of us aren't here more'n once a week, and sometimes not for two or three weeks—only when we're wanted And when you're wanted you'll get a card with W. P. on it and the hour, or else the same thing over the phone. Savvy?"

Colin licked his lips greedily.

"I'm sucking it in," he said

"Well, then" said Benny Malone, "listen to the last shout. If you have to show up here in daylight use the store or else go down and see if Solly's got your shoes mended yet. Switch about, shuffle your cards—see?

"If it's dark there's another way in. Duck into the alleyway alongside here and then around into the lane There's a door there that opens off this lower hall. It's got a latch Lift the latch and you'll find the head of a nail—only it's a push button. Push it once wait a second, then push it twice—two quick ones—and one of the Barneys will let you in.

"There's another door there, a little farther away from the alleyway, but don't monkey with that. It leads to the back stairs, and the big shots are the only ones that have got keys to it There ain't anything else that—"

A form bulked suddenly in the doorway and a man came into the room Benny Malone, as master of ceremonies, performed the introduction The man's name was Klengell At intervals of some few minutes two more men appeared—stocky chaps like the first, with weather-beaten faces. Again Benny Malone went through the rites. The latest comers answered respectively to the names of Smudge Kilrea and Geordie Napp

"Heimie Schwarm's right-handers," Benny Malone announced for Colin's benefit "Clarkie here is a new one. Any more to come?"

No one in particular being addressed, the man who had been introduced as Smudge Kilrea answered

"Nope!" he said "Three of the fleet'll be all that's needed. But where's Buck?"

"Here!" said a voice curtly from the doorway

Colin looked up. A sandy-haired man with thick, bushy, sandy eyebrows, and a tight, determined mouth, met his gaze—and the mouth suddenly relaxed into a not unpleasant smile

"Hello, Clarkie," Buck O'Mara flung out. "I hear you've joined up. We'll get to know each other better." He looked around the room. 'All set eh?—except that I haven't heard from Heimie Do any of you know whether he's been in?"

Benny Malone dragged from his pocket the envelope that Heimie Schwarm had given him.

"Heimie was here a little while ago,' he said. "He told me he couldn't wait, but that this was the dope you wanted and I was to give it to you"

Buck O'Mara tore the envelope open, extracted a sheet of paper, and full minute—then he broke into a studied the latter attentively for a grim laugh

"Some boy, Heimie!" he exclaimed "It looks like the goods to me—but you three birds ought to know. What do you say?"

He handed the sheet of paper to Smudge Kilrea, who studied it in turn, while Klengell and Geordie Napp peered over Kilrea's shoulder.

"Okay by me," stated Smudge Kilrea tersely. "A blind man could find it."

"Same here," said Klengell.

"Me too," said Geordie Napp.

"All right, then," said Buck O'Mara briskly. "Scatter! The rest is all fixed. We'll be right on your tails. And tomorrow night show up here and there'll be a cut for you to take to the boys no matter what happens tonight"

The three left the room.

Buck O'Mara turned to Colin

"Ever read the papers, Clarkie?" he inquired abruptly.

"Parts of 'em." Colin admitted with a grin. "but I pass up the eye-wash and the noise the menagerie that's in politics makes."

"Ever read about a mob a few weeks ago that was doing a nice quiet little business down on the St Lawrence turning out the queer?"

Colin's face was instantly intent

"Sure!" he said "Everybody's read about that Somebody muscled in and put two of 'em on the spot"

Buck O'Mara barked out a laugh.

"And then some!" he said thinly "The papers don't know it all. Besides the two, there was another one that got a hide full of lead and had a touch break between trying to get well and keeping under cover at the same time And also there ain't any nice little business down there any more."

There was only one man that Buck O'Mara could be talking about—Lazarre. Lazarre had pulled through and was alive, then! Colin rummaged for a match as he hung a fresh cigarette on his lip

He stared inquiringly, a little bewilderedly, at Buck O'Mara

"I'm not sure I get you" he said "What are you asking me if I'd read about that for?"

Buck O'Mara laughed but went on without answering

"This guy that almost got the works happens to be a good friend of somebody important around here see? He knew all about that St Lawrence country and a lot more as well And that little business up there—that was important to this same somebody."

Buck borrowed a light Colin was fascinated by Buck's cold, precise movements, and with his own knowledge of what actually happened on the St Lawrence, had pieced together a far more complete version of the story than Buck was likely to tell him

"So, these guys being friends, we took pains to find out who did it I thought you'd like to know that anyone you use your rod on tonight, and you'll have plenty of use for it, is only getting what he asked for. Come on, let's go.'

Colin's career of "crime" takes him on the high seas, tomorrow.

Hollywood Is O. K. to Sally Now

SALLY O'NEIL

Back in Hollywood now, after two years' absence from films, Sally O'Neill finds the place different now—and much better Leaving there, she says, was the smartest thing she ever did, because everybody was beginning to take her for granted.

BULLS GO ON RAMPAGE.

LISBON, Portugal Sept 11—(AP)—Ten bulls broke loose today in the nearby village of Sobral and charged into the crowd at the annual summer festival, injuring 20 persons, three of them probably fatally. The bulls smashed articles in china shops, fancy stalls and cafes, and wrecked the bandstand A barber killed one bull with a razor and the others were rounded up.

13 DIE AS SHIPS CRASH.

CADIZ, Spain Sept. 11 — (AP) — Wireless messages today told of the loss of thirteen sailors in a collision off the Portuguese coast, near Leizois, between the Trans-Mediterranean company's mail liner Romeo, a 2,000-ton ship in the Canaries service, and the Spanish steamer Echano. The Echano, a vessel of 900 tons, sank immediately.

Einstein Guarded In England as He Flees Nazi Threat

Price Said Set On Scientist's Head; Coming to America Soon.

CROMER, NORFOLK, England, Sept. 11—(AP)—Anybody attempting to molest Albert Einstein in his humble refuge on the Norfolk coast may get bullets from guns of his host's game keepers

And if Com. Oliver Locker-Lampson himself is around, any intruder may have to face the revolver which the member of parliament reputedly is carrying while the celebrated mathematician is under his protection

Einstein arrived in England from Belgium Saturday night following a report that Nazis had put a price on his head, and set about at once in his quiet, tree-surrounded retreat to work on a new mathematical theory—the nature of which was not disclosed—and to prepare for lectures in America next month

Seemingly content, Dr Einstein said: "All I want is peace Where could I find a more peaceful retreat than here in England?'

People's Forum

sit on the council and argue the pros and cons of issuing licenses, zoning etc, when his entire efforts are needed to supervise his department and inspect the work of his subordinates—even to occasionally looking into reservoirs and seeing if they are clean

We have seen what happens in an emergency In the interests of public safety should we not take the water and light department out of politics? It is my idea that the city council should appoint a person having suitable qualifications as superintendent of water and light rather than assigning the duty to one of its own members

ALLEN P. COWGILL.

An Answer To Prayers.

Lincoln, Neb, Sept 8.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: As this is the last letter I ever expect to write to the forum I wish to call attention to three words in Chapter 23 of St Matthew, verse 23 as uttered by Christ, "Judgment, mercy and faith"

When I read in last evening's paper the praise given to General Dawes, I could not help but think of what was printed in the press about what happened in Chicago just about a year ago It stated that Dawes' bank had asked for 80 or 90 million dollars at midnight and received it the next day. Also in that same paper it said that 400,000 people were about to lose their homes in Chicago

Is it any wonder that Christ says again in verse 33 "Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can you escape the damnation of hell?" and again in verse 34, "Wherefore behold I send now to you prophets and wise men and scribes: and some of them shall ye kill and crucify; and some of them shall ye scourge in your synagogues, and persecute from city to city."

Were truer words ever uttered? Did not he raise up the noble men who wrote the declaration of independency and our constitution? Did not he raise up the immortal Lincoln who, I believe, was assassinated by one who was crazed from the news of the day and thought that he was a tyrant who ought to be slain.

Thousands of other wise men foretold what was coming, among them our own W J. Bryan who put up as great a fight against this financial slavery as any mortal man could Yet three times the force of the public press and those who would not see, crucified him.

I never saw a man whom I thought was more heartbroken than Billy was the morning after the election of 1908. Was it any wonder he almost gave up the fight when he read what Christ said, not to "cast your pearls before swine lest they turn and rend you."

Our president in his addresses to his home folks issues a warning to the whole nation when the tells them if their representatives do not do their duty to recall them Will they heed him? No, they will not. Why? Because they will not judge justly. The money changers are without mercy and they have lost faith in the promises of God

When preachers will get up and preach that God will not answer prayer they say, "Oh, what's the use to pray?" I say and know within myself that God does answer prayer if we ask him in faith But we must obey his holy laws. He says, "Ye ask and receive not because ye ask amiss" I cannot help but think my race is nearly run

DAN M'CURDY.

Destructive Restlessness.

"A clam that is doing well enough in the water is a fool to leave it for the shore"

One step forward and two back is the unsatisfactory pace set by the man who is always restless and dissatisfied with his lot, no matter what it may be, and forever trying to seek glory and success in some other element.

A certain percentage of our misfits and malcontents are those who wouldn't like it if they were satisfied, who always believe that the other fellow is getting the better breaks, and is forever trying to step into another's coveted shoes.

He doesn't take time to grow an individuality of his own. He doesn't linger long enough in one place, or with one idea, to grow roots. And without roots, he cannot bear fruit, or blossoms, or even foliage and branches. He simply withers.

A certain amount of restlessness may lead to progress. But too much is destructive. There's a Biblical quotation which gives sage advice to the man who leaps without looking and leaps too often: "Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established."

Up To Mother.

Dear Minerva: I read your Mail every night and am happy to say I've received some very valuable information I am now in a terrible predicament and am coming to you for help.

My story is very sad as my mother and father are about to seperate. Being the oldest I feel it is my duty to do something. There are three children, my brother thirteen, my sister sixteen and myself eighteen First of all, dad has a terrible temper. It's absolutely uncontrollable Often he mistreats mother. He gives her tyrannical orders, and talks of sending her to the insane asylum when she is no more crazier than I am. We don't keep any help at home. Yet Dad can afford to let us have a maid We have had a woman to do the washing, but now he has told her not to return Mother never has any money. Dad thinks because others are suffering from the depression that we should also Yet we have a fairly good income Business is slow but that is no reason why he should take it out on us

We all do our best to make things comfortable for him This he should appreciate, but does not I am sorry to say he thinks of no one but himself There hasn't been any peace around home for months It's unbearable We used to have charge accounts at all the department stores. Now he has forbidden any of us to charge anyplace He doesn't even give us the necessities of life. All he thinks about is money, money, money.

Right now he is not on speaking terms with mother I'm telling you it's dreadful. I know perfectly well mother is suffering for the children's sakes, to stick to dad. I try to reason with her and tell her to divorce him Mother's sisters and brothers have told her the same. Yes, I realize that mother and dad have been married for twenty-one years But she shouldn't have to go on suffering to the end of her life. Mother is a very smart woman mingles well with people and is well liked by all. She's a great social worker, but is hardly ever given a chance to do such work because of her housework. Dad is entirely opposite, a very smart person in business, but ignorant otherwise. He always thinks he's right about everything. I've already consulted a lawyer. I know all the laws and we could be well provided for. Am I wrong in persuading mother to divorce dad? My sister and brother agree with me. So I'm quite sure you understand where we stand. If a divorce should result, mother, brother, sis and myself would move away from this city. What should I do? —DORIS.

A—The only thing that prevents the divorce is evidently mother, herself. You are not wrong in trying to persuade her to take the path which you believe would mean peace and rest for her, and greater happiness for all of you. But you will be in the wrong, if you blame or condemn her for failing to see things as you do. In case she continue to refrain from agreeing to such a break.

It may be that she is just too tired and crushed to make the effort to change her life so completely. It may be, that despite the trying period, the years that she has spent as wife to your dad are so rich in memories and tender associations, that she still loves her husband, faults and all. It may be that she feels toward him much as she would feel toward one of her children, that he is being "a bad boy," is very trying and heartbreaking, but she could not desert him and leave him to the discomforts and undoubted loneliness that would be his allotment.

I don't know how she feels about it Nor do you. But, whether it is a philosophy of resignation, or remnants of a love once splendid and constructive, neither you nor I can tell. But if she is negative in her attitude toward your pleas, then try to understand her, and by all means don't add to her burdens through condemning her
